Textile-led Design for the Active Ageing Population Jane McCann, David Bryson, 2014-08-19 Despite the world's aging population, suitable clothing for the older community is a largely neglected area. This book considers the needs of the growing number of active older people and investigates how recent developments in textiles, fibres, finishes, design and integrated technology can be deployed to serve this group and improve quality of life. Part I provides an understanding of the active aging population by considering the group's experiences of and attitudes towards clothing and reviewing the barriers to their adoption of new wearable technologies. Part II focuses on the needs of the older population including effective communication with designers and the age-related anatomical and physiological changes that designs should consider. Part III reviews design requirements and processes and finally Part IV reviews the manufacture of suitable apparel with chapters on suitable textile fibres, balancing technology and aesthetics and wearable electronics. Summarises the wealth of recent research on attitudes to clothing amongst the active ageing population. Looks into how their aspirations can be investigated and appropriate apparel designed to meet their needs. Examines design and manufacturing issues including ways of accommodating physiological changes with age and the use of wearable electronics.

The New Dynamics of Ageing Volume 1 Alan Walker, 2018-02-28 The two volumes of The New Dynamics of Ageing provide a comprehensive interdisciplinary overview of the latest research on aging. Together they report the outcomes of the New Dynamics of Ageing research projects, the most intensive investigation ever undertaken into both the influences that shape the changing nature of aging and their consequences for individuals and society. Providing crucial insights into aging and its impact on an individual, national and global scale, these volumes are an indispensable reference for researchers, policy makers and students. In Volume 1, essays concentrate on three major themes: active aging, design for aging and the relationship between aging and socioeconomic development. Each chapter provides a comprehensive topic summary and reports the findings of the New Dynamics of Ageing research projects, emphasizing the practical implications of aging and stressing how evidence-based policies, practices and products can produce individual and societal benefits.
