Metalepsis in Popular Culture Karin Kukkonen, Sonja Klimek, 2011-05-04 When readers become victims of the murder mysteries they are immersed in when superheroes embark on a quest to challenge their authors or when the fictional rock band Gorillaz flirt with Madonna during their performance then metalepsis in popular culture occurs Metalepsis describes the transgression of the boundary between the fictional world and a representation of the real world This volume establishes a transmedial definition of metalepsis and explores the phenomenon in twelve case studies across media and genres of popular culture from film TV series animated cartoons graphic novels and popular fiction to pop music music videos holographic projections and fan cultures Narrative studies have considered metalepsis so far largely as a phenomenon of postmodern or avant garde literature Metalepsis in Popular Culture investigates metalepsis ties to the popular and traces its transmedial importance through a wealth of examples from the turn of the 20th century to this day The articles also address larger issues such as readerly immersion the appeal of complexity in popular culture or the negotiation of fiction and reality in media and invite readers to rethink these issues through the prism of metalepsis

The Tropes of Fantasy Fiction Gabrielle Lissauer, 2014-12-24 Comparing various fantasy fiction stories this book shows that it is not the tropes and cliches that make a story good or bad but how the author applies them The book also explores the concept of text versus meta text that is when the story's world and character actions contradict the reader's expectations based on the tropes being used Covering authors from Mercedes Lackey and Brandon Sanderson to Christopher Paolini and Stephenie Meyer the author finds that it is the nature of tropes and the language used that make a fantasy story for bad or good

The Literature of Reconstruction Wolfgang Funk, 2017-03-23 Winner of the 2016 ESSE Junior Scholar Book Award in Literatures in the English Language The Literature of Reconstruction argues for the term and concept of postmillennial reconstruction to fill the gap left by the decline of postmodernism and deconstruction as useful cultural and literary categories Wolfgang Funk shows how this notion emerges from the theoretical and philosophical development that led to the demise of postmodernism by relating it to the idea of authenticity immediate experience that eludes direct representation In addition he provides a clear formal framework with which to identify and classify the features of reconstructive literature by updating the narratological category of metafiction originally established in the 1980s Based on Werner Wolf's observation of a metareferential turn in contemporary arts and media he illustrates how the specific use of metareference results in a renegotiation of the specific patterns of literary communication and claims that this renegotiation can be profitably described with the concept of reconstruction To substantiate this claim in the second half of the book Funk discusses narrative texts that illustrate this transition from postmodern deconstruction to postmillennial reconstruction The analyses take in distinguished and prize winning writers such as Dave Eggers Julian Barnes Jennifer Egan and Jasper Fforde The broad scope of authors featuring writers from the US as well as the UK underlines the fact that the reconstructive tendencies and strategies Funk diagnoses are of universal significance for the intellectual and cultural self image of the global North Sequels Janet G.
