The Historical Novel in Nineteenth-Century Europe Brian Hamnett,2011-11-24 Even at the height of its popularity in the early nineteenth century the historical novel faced criticism at many levels After its predominance in the 1810s and 1820s writers and historians shunned it as a travesty of their respective disciplines Even so the historical novel has frequently attracted a wide ranging public right up to the present day Brian Hamnett examines key novels by authors including Scott Balzac Manzoni Dickens Eliot Flaubert Fontane Gald s and Tolstoy revealing the contradictions inherent in this form of fiction and exposing the challenges writers faced in attempting to represent a reality that linked past and present He argues that the historical novel in the nineteenth century was a common European phenomenon with considerable interconnection of themes and periods Accordingly the book ranges from the British Isles and France through the Germanic territories Italy and Spain to the Russian Empire identifying the different objectives and phases of the historical novel Although historical novels did appear in the two previous centuries the form came to maturity in the nineteenth century a consequence of the developing nature of history as a discipline distinct from literature and philosophy and the increasing primacy of the novel for writers and the reading public Yet the frontiers between history and literature remained blurred and the two disciplines continued to influence one another as each sought a faithful representation of human experience The White Venus

Gender and the Gothic in the Fiction of Edith Wharton Kathy A. Fedorko, 2017-12-12 An investigation into Wharton s extensive use and adaptation of the Gothic in her fiction Gender and the Gothic in the Fiction of Edith Wharton is an innovative study that provides fresh insights into Wharton s male characters while at the same time showing how Wharton s imagining of a fe male self evolves throughout her career Using feminist archetypal theory and theory of the female Gothic Kathy A Fedorko shows how Wharton in sixteen short stories and six major novels written during four distinct periods of her life adopts and adapts Gothic elements as a way to explore the nature of feminine and masculine ways of knowing and being and to dramatize the tension between them Edith Wharton's contradictory views of women and men her attitudes toward the feminine and the masculine reflect a complicated interweaving of family and social environment historical time and individual psychology Studies of Wharton have exhibited this same kind of contradiction with some seeing her as disparaging men and the masculine and others depicting her as disparaging women and the feminine The use of Gothic elements in her fiction provided Wharton who was often considered the consummate realist with a way to dramatize the conflict between feminine and masculine selves as she experienced them and to evolve an alternative to the dualism Fedorko's work is unique in its careful consideration of Wharton's sixteen Gothic works which are seldom discussed Further the revelation of how these Gothic stories are reflected in her major realistic novels In the novels with Gothic texts Wharton draws multiple parallels between male and female protagonists indicating the commonalities between women and men and the potential for a female self Eventually in her last completed novel and her last short story Wharton imagines human beings who are comfortable with both gender selves , Art, Performance, Media Nicholas Zurbrugg, 2004 Over the course of fifteen years Nicholas Zurbrugg interviewed the avant garde poets filmmakers dancers writers composers and performance artists who were defying tradition crossing genres and forever changing how art would be created performed and interpreted These conversations with thirty one of the leading multimedia artists in the United States now form a comprehensive record from the insiders perspectives of the most vital component of the postmodern American art world Passionate about postmodernism and committed to innovative creativity Zurbrugg asks these artists probing and insightful questions How did their work evolve Who most influenced them How did they assess changes in contemporary art and what did they think of each other's work Which of their experiences had the most powerful effects on their creative development What could lie ahead for American art As these questions are answered by individual artists the interviews also cumulatively address larger issues of artistic expression including the idea of the avant garde itself The book features interviews with Kathy Acker Charles Amirkhanian Laurie Anderson Robert Ashley Beth B David Blair William S Burroughs Warren Burt John Cage Richard Foreman Kenneth Gaburo Diamanda Galas John Giorno Philip Glass Brion Gysin Dick Higgins Jenny Holzer Mike Kuchar Robert Lax Jackson Mac Low Meredith Monk Nam June Paik Yvonne Rainer Steve Reich Rachel Rosenthal Bill Viola Larry Wendt Emmett Williams Robert Wilson Nick Zedd and Ellen Zweig Introductory notes to each interview provide context and connect the work and experiences of various artists and photographs of these artists contribute a significant visual element to the book Nicholas Zurbrugg 1947-2001 was professor of English and cultural studies as well as director of the Centre of Contemporary Arts at De Montfort University in Leicester England He is the author of The Parameters of Postmodernism and Critical Vices: The Myths of Postmodern Theory The Fire in Fiction Donald Maass, 2009-05-06 Discover the Difference Between a So So Manuscript and a Novel Readers Can't Forget We've all read them novels by our favorite authors that disappoint. Uninspired and lifeless we wonder what happened. Was the author in a hurry? Did she have a bad year? Has he lost interest altogether? Something similar is true of a great many unpublished manuscripts. They are okay stories that never take flight. They don't grip the imagination let alone the heart. They merit only a shrug and a polite dismissal by agents and editors. It doesn't have to be that way. In The Fire in Fiction, successful literary agent and author Donald Maass shows you not only how to infuse your story with deep conviction and fiery passion but how to do it over and over again. The book features techniques for capturing a special time and place, creating characters whose lives matter, nailing multiple impact plot turns, making the supernatural real, infusing issues into fiction, and more. Story-enriching exercises at the end of every chapter show you how to apply the practical tools just covered to your own work. Rich examples drawn from contemporary novels as diverse as The Lake House, Water for Elephants, and Jennifer Government illustrate how various techniques work in actual stories. Plus, Maass introduces an original technique that any novelist can use any time in any scene in any novel, even on the most uninspired day, to take the most powerful experiences from your personal life and turn those experiences directly into powerful fiction. Tap into The Fire in Fiction and supercharge your story with originality and spark.
