The Commodore (Vol. Book 17) (Aubrey/Maturin Novels) Patrick O'Brian,2011-12-05 The seventeenth novel in the sweeping Aubrey Maturin series of naval tales which the New York Times Book Review has described as the best historical novels ever written Having survived a long and desperate adventure in the Great South Sea Captain Jack Aubrey and Stephen Maturin return to England to very different circumstances For Jack it is a happy homecoming at least initially but for Stephen it is disastrous his little daughter appears to be autistic incapable of speech or contact while his wife Diana unable to bear this situation has disappeared her house being looked after by the widowed Clarissa Oakes Much of The Commodore takes place on land in sitting rooms and in drafty castles but the roar of the great guns is never far from our hearing Aubrey and Maturin are sent on a bizarre decoy mission to the fever ridden lagoons of the Gulf of Guinea to suppress the slave trade But their ultimate destination is Ireland where the French are mounting an invasion that will test Aubrey's seamanship and Maturin's resourcefulness as a secret intelligence agent The subtle interweaving of these disparate themes is an achievement of pure storytelling by one of our greatest living novelists

Patrick O'Brian's Bodies at Sea Michael Leigh Sinowitz,2014-07-18 An exploration of the complex roles that bodies both literally and figuratively play in the 21 volume Aubrey Maturin series reveals much about the novels many meditations on mind and body Beginning with a consideration of genre norms and the bodies of the novels main characters the book's focus shifts to the ways the series offers interconnections between the human body and history More literal considerations of the body examine O Brian's depictions of drug use particularly the opium addiction that afflicts Stephen Maturin and human sexuality in its many guises The work then focuses on Desolation Island the fifth novel in the series in light of the discussions above but also in terms of political and psychological tropes that draw upon the relationship of mind and body Questions are examined about the relationship of reader to author and what sustains such a long narrative and what continues to bring a reader back again and again

From Bilateralism to Community Interest Ulrich Fastenrath,2011 This festschrift dedicated to Judge Bruno Simma traces the development of international law from regulating bilateral state to state relationships towards strengthening the entire international community by protecting human security the global environment and human rights It provides both theoretical and practical insights into these sometimes conflicting goals their basis in international law and the role played by international institutions charged with upholding these values and interests The work thus examines the mechanism by which international law contributes to the realization not only of individual State interests but the interests of the international community as a whole From this vantage point it looks at the various functions that international law fulfills in the international community from law making and institution building towards adjudication and the securing of human rights Taken together the contributions to this book paints a detailed but nevertheless comprehensive picture of the realization of community interest in contemporary international law As professor and judge Bruno Simma has contributed to all of these tasks providing ground breaking theoretical work serving in the International Law Commission and in the Committee for Economic Social and Cultural Rights and finally as a judge at the International Court of Justice in The Hague The three introductory chapters express this unity of life and work

The Commodore Patrick O'Brian, 1995 The 18th Century heroes Captain Jack Aubrey and Dr Stephen Maturin of the Royal Navy are sent to the fever ridden Gulf of Guinea to disrupt the slave trade But their ultimate destination is Ireland where the French are mounting an invasion a mission that will test Aubrey's seamanship and Maturin's talents as a secret agent By the author of The Wine Dark Sea

All Hands on Deck Will Sofrin, 2023-04-18 A maritime adventure memoir that follows a crew of misfits hired by Hollywood to sail an 18th century warship 5 000 miles for the making of a beloved blockbuster film An unbelievable ride Will Sofrin has lived the real experiences and survived to tell the tale Dan Shotz Emmy Award winning producer of Black Sails In the late 1990s Patrick O'Brian's multimillion copy selling historical novel series the Aubrey Maturin series which was set during the Napoleonic Wars seemed destined for film With Russell Crowe as Jack Aubrey and Paul Bettany as Stephen Maturin the production only needed a ship that could stand in for Lucky Jack's HMS Surprise with historical accuracy paramount The filmmakers found the Rose a replica of an 18th century ship that would work perfectly Only there was one problem the Rose was in Newport Rhode Island not in Southern California where they would be filming Enter a ragtag crew of thirty oddballs who stepped up for the task including Will Sofrin at the time a 21 year old wooden boat builder and yacht racer who joined as the ship's carpenter All Hands on Deck is Sofrin's memoir of the epic adventure delivering the Rose to Hollywood It's a story of reinvention of hard work on the high seas of love and of survival The Rose was an example of the most cutting edge technology of her era but in the 21st century barely anyone had experience sailing it The crew effectively went back in time brought to life the old ways of a forgotten world and barely lived to tell the tale Just a few days in a terrifying hurricane strength storm nearly sank the Rose and later a rogue wave caused a nearly fatal dismasting And the ups and downs weren't limited to the waves with the crew split into factions making peace between warring camps became necessary too as did avoiding pirates and braving the temptations of shore leave All Hands on Deck is a gripping story of an unforgettable journey and a must read for fans who adore O'Brian's novels and the dramatic film adaptation of the Academy Award nominated Master and Commander
