Sentencing and Criminal Justice Andrew Ashworth, Rory Kelly, 2021-07-15 This revised and updated new edition focuses on major developments in sentencing law practice and theory Sentencing in England and Wales is now dominated by Sentencing Council guidelines and scrutiny of those guidelines is central to this book Issues of principle are identified and discussed to include the constitutional position of the Sentencing Council the meaning of and challenges to proportionality and the sentencing of BAME offenders and women offenders The book welcomes the new Sentencing Code introduced as the Sentencing Act 2020 and critically examines the government's plans for sentencing reform set out in the 2020 White Paper A Smarter Approach to Sentencing Throughout the book sentencing is explored in its wider criminal justice context making it essential reading for courses on sentencing criminal justice and criminal law

Professional Disobedience in Probation Asbjørn Storgaard, 2025-06-13 This book comprises an in depth and highly inclusive ethnographic study of daily life in two local Danish probation offices With a special emphasis on manual based rehabilitative interventions the book explores the interactions between probation officers and citizens on probation serving conditional sentences or performing community service as well as the professionals' rationales behind their rehabilitative efforts By presenting ethnographic findings that indicate a divergence between the envisioned trust based interactions and the reality of manual based scripted practices within the Danish probation service the analyses reveal how rehabilitative interactions may seem choreographed with roles predetermined by an asymmetric social hierarchy This framework portrays the client as inherently obstinate unpredictable and cast as an irresponsible subject Despite these challenges the book underscores probation officers' genuine belief in the transformative power of motivational programs More precisely it assesses the potential for manual based or scripted rehabilitative interventions to genuinely inspire participatory citizenship among disenfranchised clients Building on these empirically informed discussions the book ultimately endeavors to provide a positive and instructive conceptualization of the diverse activities in which probation officers acknowledging the limitations of their scripted interactions with clients appear to transgress their manual based mandate and perform professional disobedience Given the broad applicability of the concept of professional disobedience extending beyond probation to other social service practices navigating the intersection of help and control this book is intended for a wide array of researchers students practitioners and policymakers with an interest in punishment disenfranchisement and rehabilitation This book is essential reading for those engaged in probation criminal justice ethnography and Nordic criminology

Handbook on Moving Corrections and Sentencing Forward Pamela K.

Lattimore, Beth M. Huebner, Faye S. Taxman, 2020-11-10 This volume addresses major issues and research in corrections and sentencing with the goal of using previous research and findings as a platform for recommendations about future research evaluation and policy The last several decades witnessed major policy changes in sentencing and corrections in the United States as well as considerable research to identify the most effective strategies for addressing criminal behavior These efforts included changes in sentencing that eliminated parole and imposed draconian sentences for violent and drug crimes The federal government followed by most states implemented sentencing guidelines that greatly reduced the discretion of the courts to impose sentences The results were a multifold increase in the numbers of individuals in jails and prisons and on community supervision increases that have only recently crested There were also efforts to engage prosecutors and the courts in diversion and oversight including the development of prosecutorial diversion programs as well as a variety of specialty courts Penal reform has included efforts to understand the transitions from prison to the community including federal led efforts focused on reentry programming Community corrections reforms have ranged from increased surveillance through drug testing electronic monitoring and in some cases judicial oversight to rehabilitative efforts driven by risk and needs assessment More recently the focus has included pretrial reform to reduce the number of people held in jail pending trial efforts that have brought attention to the use of bail and its disproportionate impact on people of color and the poor This collection of chapters from leading researchers addresses a wide array of the latest research in the field A unique approach featuring responses to the original essays by active researchers spurs discussion and provides a foundation for developing directions for future research and policymaking

Relationships Sarah Lewis, 2016-04-20 The relationship between offender and criminal justice practitioner has shifted throughout rehabilitative history whether situated within psychological interventions prison or probation This relationship has evolved and adapted over time but interpersonal processes remain central to offender work However little work has critically focused upon the challenging task of developing and sustaining positive relationships with offenders This book addresses this gap providing an in depth exploration of the processes which underpin correctional relationships within probation Through an innovative methodology it examines how practitioners can enhance their practice by understanding how relationships form deepen and end effectively For the first time it draws on the experiences of offenders and practitioners to uncover the darker side to relationships identifying how they can rupture and break down From this exploration it presents alternative ways in which relationships can be repaired and safeguarded within correctional practice In essence this book assists practitioners in becoming successful supporters of change In an increasingly competitive and politicised climate this book outlines how political and organisational tensions can impact upon the flow of relationships across the criminal justice system Uniquely this book examines how these tensions can be overcome to produce transformative changes Lewis suggests that therapeutic correctional relationships can thrive within a number of correctional settings and presents the core principles of relational practice and dynamic model of therapeutic correctional relationships to assist in achieving quality and sustainable practice This book will appeal to criminological and psychological scholars as well as students studying probation and prison practice offender rehabilitation and desistance Maritime Psychology

Malcolm MacLachlan, 2017-01-21 This first of its kind volume assembles current research on psychosocial issues and behavioral and safety concerns inherent in life and careers at sea Focusing mainly on the commercial maritime transport sector it sets out the basic concepts of maritime psychology in the contexts of health and occupational psychology and illustrates more expansive applications across nautical domains A systems perspective and detailed case studies spotlight unique challenges to mariners work performance personal and environmental health and safety it also provides support for psychometric assessment of seafarers and describes emerging uses for the healing properties of the sea and sailing The book is a springboard for continued research and practice development further interaction between psychology and the maritime world and the continued broadening and deepening of the field Among the topics covered Positive psychology and wellbeing at sea Transferring learning across safety critical industries Occupational stress in seafarers The psychology of ship architecture and design Motion sickness susceptibility and management at sea Risk communication during a maritime disaster Written with clarity and nuance reflecting the vastness of marine experience Maritime Psychology will be of interest to lecturers researchers and students of occupational and health psychology and maritime science and to social and health scientists and practitioners in these and related fields Rehabilitation and Deviance (Routledge Revivals) Philip Bean, 2013-11-05 First published in 1976 this book examines rehabilitation within the penal system in Britain in the 1970s It argues that the rehabilitative ideal is not the only possible alternative to a penal policy but an option which has now become institutionalized and alien to traditional concepts of justice Using a framework derived from the sociology of law Philip Bean looks at aspects of rehabilitation as it is operated in the courts and in certain penal institutions He shows how the concept of rehabilitation has had an important but harmful effect on penal policy as it is often incompatible with penal aims This book considers the impact that sentencing social enquiry reports and modern prison policies have on rehabilitation The concluding chapter asks for a return to concepts of justice and a move away from discussions about personal lives of deviant members of society The Routledge Companion to Rehabilitative Work in Criminal Justice Pamela Ugwu-dike, Hannah Graham, Fergus McNeill, Peter Raynor, Faye S. Taxman, Chris Trotter, 2019-09-12 All the world's criminal justice systems need to undertake direct work with people who have come into their care or are under their supervision as a result of criminal offences Typically this is organized in penal and correctional services in custody in prisons or in the community supervised by services such as probation Bringing together international experts this book is the go to source for students researchers and practitioners in criminal justice looking for a comprehensive and authoritative summary of available knowledge in the field Covering a variety of contexts settings needs and approaches and drawing on theory and practice this Companion brings together over 90 entries offering readers concise and definitive overviews of a range of key contemporary issues on working with offenders The book is split into thematic sections and includes coverage of Theories and models for working with offenders Policy contexts of offender supervision and rehabilitation Direct work with offenders Control surveillance and practice Resettlement Application to specific groups including female offenders young offenders families and ethnic minorities Application to specific needs and contexts such as substance misuse mental health violence and risk assessment Practitioner and offender perspectives The development of an evidence base This book is an essential and flexible resource for researchers and practitioners alike and is an authoritative guide for students taking courses on working with offenders criminal justice policy probation prisons penology and community corrections
