Behind the Walls Michael Weinrath, 2016-11-01 In this system you can't trust anybody Like even on the streets I've never trusted my own brother But now in Ni Miikana I'm starting to get that trust back You just gotta be careful what you say in here and you'll be all right Despite falling crime rates more rights for inmates and better training for correctional officers Canada's prison population is on the rise and outbreaks of violence continue to grab headlines Applying Erving Goffman's frame theory and drawing on interviews with inmates and correctional officers in federal and provincial institutions Michael Weinrath assesses whether improvements over the past twenty five years have truly led to better corrections Behind the Walls offers an unprecedented look at life in contemporary prisons Inmates and staff describe their transition to prison life and corrections work and they explain how they frame or understand their roles and how they relate to others They provide commentaries on key developments and problems including the experiences of female correctional officers in male prisons boundary violations by correctional officers the introduction of behavioural programs and the rise of prison gangs Weinrath's balanced assessment reveals that although prisons have seen improvements they continue to be plagued by problems that prevent inmates from forging positive relationships among themselves and with correctional officers

You Don't Look Like a Lawyer Tsedale M. Melaku, 2019-04-18 Now available in paperback with a new foreword from Victor Ray You Don't Look Like a Lawyer Black Women and Systemic Gendered Racism highlights how race and gender create barriers to recruitment professional development and advancement to partnership for black women in elite corporate law firms Utilizing narratives of black female lawyers this book offers a blend of accessible theory to benefit any reader willing to learn about the underlying challenges that lead to their high attrition rates Drawing from narratives of black female lawyers their experiences center around gendered racism and are embedded within institutional practices at the hands of predominantly white men In particular the book covers topics such as appearance white narratives of affirmative action differences and similarities with white women and black men exclusion from social and professional networking opportunities and lack of mentors sponsors and substantive training This book highlights the often hidden mechanisms elite law firms utilize to perpetuate and maintain a dominant white male system Weaving the narratives with a critical race analysis and accessible writing the reader is exposed to this exclusive elite environment demonstrating the rawness and reality of black women's experiences in white spaces Finally we get to hear the voices of black female lawyers as they tell their stories and perspectives on working in a highly competitive racialized and gendered environment and the impact it has on their advancement and beyond

What's France got to do with it? Juliana de Nooy, 2020-07-30 While only one book length memoir recounting the sojourn of an Australian in France was published in the 1990s well over 40 have been published since 2000 overwhelmingly written by women Although we might expect a focus on travel intercultural adjustment and communication in these texts this is the case only in a minority of accounts More frequently France serves as a backdrop to a project of self renovation in which transplantation to another country is incidental hence the question What's France got to do with it The book delves into what France represents in the various narratives its role in the self transformation and the reasons for the seemingly insatiable demand among readers and publishers for these stories It asks why these memoirs have gained such traction among Australian women at the dawn of the twenty first century and what is at stake in the fascination with France

Inequality, Crime, and Health among African American Males Marino A. Bruce, Darnell F.
