Edgar Allan Poe's The Tell-tale Heart ,1954 Perverseness in Poe: The Tell-Tale Heart and Black Cat Anja Einhorn,2002-07-24 Seminar paper from the year 2002 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies Literature grade 1 3 A Ruhr University of Bochum English Faculty language English abstract This term paper deals with Edgar Allan Poe s short stories The Black Cat and The Tell Tale Heart which are both examples of men who give in to a strange inner force which Poe himself calls perverseness His notion of this term is explicitly used in what could be called his short story essay The Imp of the Perverse First of all it is necessary to explain what Poe meant by this certain force apart and beyond the ordinary understanding of perverseness After that his two tales of terror mentioned above will be compared according to their common themes First a short summary of each will be given followed by the point of view technique Poe uses for a certain purpose Then the victims of the stories and the narrators causes of fear will be explored Both tales obviously deal with the causes of domestic violence that occur as the result of an irrational fear either superstition or ancient belief Then both protagonists will be characterized as perverse criminals who give in to their dark side and annihilate themselves Furthermore there s a discussion of narrative style and images and the ending of the stories At last especially The Black Cat is explored considering its content of truth So the reader may see that Poe gave us two little masterpieces in human psychology to think about The spirit of perverseness is lurking in everybody
