The Visitor's Book of Texts Andrew Alexander Bonar, 1982-02-01 For the Work of the Ministry William Garden Blaikie, 1878 Museum Texts Louise Ravelli, 2007-01-24 Answering key questions in the study of how museums communicate Louise Ravelli provides a set of frameworks to investigate the complexities of communication in museums What is an appropriate level of complexity for a written label Why do some choice in language make a more direct relation to visitors Is there a correct way of presenting a particular view of content How do design practices contribute to the overall meanings being made The frameworks enhance the way we critically analyze and understand museums text both in the sense of conventional written texts in museums and in an expanded sense of the museum as a whole operating as a communicative text Using a wide range of examples Ravelli argues that communication contributes fundamentally to what a museum is who it relates to and what it stands for Not only museum studies and communications studies students but also professionals in the field will find Museum Texts an indispensable guide on communication frameworks Thank You for Dying for Our Country Chaim Noy, 2015-06-08 Combining ethnographic semiotic and performative approaches this book examines texts and accompanying acts of writing of national commemoration The commemorative visitor book is viewed as a mobilized stage a communication medium where visitors public performances are presented and where acts of participation are authored and composed The study contextualizes the visitor book within the material and ideological environment where it is positioned and where it functions The semiotics of commemoration are mirrored in the visitor book which functions as a participatory platform that becomes an extension of the commemorative spaces in the museum The study addresses tourists and visitors texts i e the commemorative entries in the book which are succinct dialogical utterances Through these public performances individuals and groups of visitors align and affiliate with a larger imagined national community Reading the entries allows a unique perspective on communication practices and processes and vividly illustrates such concepts as genre voice addressivity indexicality and the very acts of writing and reading The book's many entries tell stories of affirming but also resisting the narrative tenets of Zionist national identity and they illustrate the politics of gender and ethnicity in Israeli society The book presents many ethnographic observations and interviews which were done both with the management of the site Ammunition Hill National Memorial Site and with the visitors themselves The observations shed light on processes and practices involved in writing and reading and on how visitors decide on what to write and how they collaborate on drafting their entries The interviews with the site's management also illuminate the commemoration projects and how museums and exhibitions are staged and managed Ethnographies of Academic Writing Research Ignacio Guillén-Galve, Ana Bocanegra-Valle, 2021-10-15 This book illustrates the use of ethnography as an analytical approach to investigate academic writing and provides critical insights into how academic writing research can benefit from the use of ethnographic methods Throughout its six theoretical and practice oriented studies together with the introductory chapter

Jews and Journeys Joshua Levinson, Orit Bashkin, 2021-08-06 Journeys of dislocation and return of discovery and conquest hold a prominent place in the imagination of many cultures Wherever an individual or community may be located it would seem there is always the dream of being elsewhere This has been especially true throughout the ages for Jews for whom the promises and perils of travel have influenced both their own sense of self and their identity in the eyes of others How does travel writing as a genre produce representations of the world of others against which one's own self can be invented or explored And what happens when Jewish authors in particular whether by force or of their own free will whether in reality or in the imagination travel from one place to another How has travel figured in the formation of Jewish identity and what cultural and ideological work is performed by texts that document or figure specifically Jewish travel Featuring essays on topics that range from Abraham as a traveler in biblical narrative to the guest book entries at contemporary Israeli museum and memorial sites from the marvels medieval travelers claim to have encountered to eighteenth century Jewish critiques of Orientalism from the Wandering Jew of legend to one mid twentieth century Yiddish writer's accounts of his travels through Peru Jews and Journeys explores what it is about travel writing that enables it to become one of the central mechanisms for exploring the realities and fictions of individual and collective identity

Curiosities and Texts Marjorie

Swann,2010-11-24 A craze for collecting swept England during the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries Aristocrats and middling sort men alike crammed their homes full of a bewildering variety of physical objects antique coins scientific instruments minerals mummified corpses zoological specimens plants ethnographic objects from Asia and the Americas statues portraits Why were these bizarre jumbles of artifacts so popular In Curiosities and Texts Marjorie Swann demonstrates that collections of physical objects were central to early modern English literature and culture Swann examines the famous collection of rarities assembled by the Tradescant family the development of English natural history narrative catalogs of English landscape features that began to appear in the Tudor and Stuart periods the writings of Ben Jonson and Robert Herrick and the foundation of the British Museum Through this wide ranging series of case studies Swann addresses two important questions How was the collection which was understood as a form of cultural capital appropriated in early modern England to construct new social selves and modes of subjectivity And how did literary texts both as material objects and as vehicles of representation participate in the process of negotiating the cultural significance of collectors and collecting Crafting her unique argument with a balance of detail and insight Swann sheds new light on material culture's relationship to literature social authority and personal identity

Text Types and the History of English Manfred Görlach, 2008-08-22 The history of modern European languages has been largely determined by the range of functions they have acquired particularly after 1500 This development necessitated a notable expansion of their syntax and lexis but is most characteristically reflected in the conventionalization of text types Starting from the German concept of Textsorte as developed from the 1960s onwards the present account is a first comprehensive attempt at charting the field for the history and present day situation of the English language In text types a designation is linked with a more or less stable form which guides the writer's production as well as the reader's expectation permitting one to recognize straightforward uses as well as deliberate misuses Some two thousand of such designations are here listed with minimal definitions and dates for first occurrences The discussion then concentrates on selected types which are seen as especially illustrative for English book dedications cooking recipes advertisements church hymns lexical entries and jokes Their functions and development over time are treated in correlation with their specific linguistic characteristics and adaptations to different period styles and social changes in the readership The functional range of text types in traditions outside England and the consequences of the export of English categories are exemplified by the history of Scots Scottish English and of English in India The arguments are accompanied by a lavish supply of textual excerpts and more than fifty pages of facsimiles which are especially relevant for insights derived from typographical features A full bibliography and indices are provided at the end The book will prove useful for decisions on the constitution of representative text corpora and stimulate research into a greater number of individual text types as well as contrastive analyses at least among European languages

Museum and Gallery Publishing Sarah Hughes, 2019-06-20 Museum and Gallery Publishing examines the theory and practice of general and scholarly publishing associated with museum and art gallery collections Focusing on the production and reception of these texts the book explains the relevance of publishing to the cultural commercial and social contexts of collections and their institutions Combining theory with case studies from around the world Sarah Anne Hughes explores how why and to what effect museums and galleries publish books Covering a broad range of publishing formats and organisations including heritage sites libraries and temporary exhibitions the book argues that the production and consumption of printed media within the context of collecting institutions occupies a unique and privileged role in the creation and communication of knowledge Acknowledging that books offer functions beyond communication Hughes argues that this places books published by museums in a unique relationship to institutions with staff acting as producers and visitors as consumers The logistical and ethical dimensions of museum and gallery publishing are also examined in depth including consideration of issues such as production the impact of digital technologies funding and sponsorship marketing co publishing rights and curators and artists agency Focusing on an important but hitherto neglected topic Museum and Gallery Publishing is key reading for researchers in the fields of museum heritage art and publishing studies It will also be of interest to curators and other practitioners working in museums heritage and science centres and art galleries Annual Report of the Board of Visitors of the United States Military Academy Made to the Secretary of War for the Year... ,1896
