Mukka Marko Tapio and Pentti Linkola Drawing from the study of the imagined North and theories and tools in the study of literature and emotions the analyses show how such moods as melancholia ecstasy or a peculiar sense of November are generated in texts and how literary emotions entangle with the Northern environment they depict By focusing on the imagined North in Finnish modernism and contemporary literature the authors offer original views on experiences of late modernity merging with the changing Northern environment in the age of the Anthropocene Lived Nation as the History of Experiences and Emotions in Finland, 1800-2000 Ville Kivimäki, Sami Suodenjoki, Tanja Vahtikari, 2021-06-07 This open access book uses Finland in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries as an empirical case in order to study the emergence shaping and renewal of a nation through histories of experience and emotions It revolves around the following questions What kinds of experiences have engendered national mobilization and feelings of national belonging How have political and societal conflicts turned into new communities of experience and emotion What kinds of experiences have been integrated into or excluded from the national context in different instances How have people internalized or contested the nation as a context for their personal family and minority group experiences In what ways has the nation entered and affected people s intimate spheres of life How have national experiences been transmitted to children in the renewal of the nation This edited collection points to the histories of experience and emotions as a novel way of studying nations and nationalism Building on current debates in nationalism studies it offers a theoretical framework for analyzing the historical construction of lived nations and introduces a number of new methodological approaches to understand the experiences of the nation extending from the investigation of personal reminiscences and music records to the study of dreams and children s drawings

Translation and the Problem of Sway Douglas Robinson, 2011-05-18 In Translation and the Problem of Sway Douglas Robinson offers the concept of sway to bring together discussion of two translational phenomena that have traditionally been considered in isolation i.e. norms and errors norms as ideological pressures to conform to the source text and deviations from the source text as driven by ideological pressures to conform to some extratextual authority The two theoretical constructs around which the discussion of translational sway is organized are Peirce's interpretant as rethought by Lawrence Venuti and narrativity as rethought by Mona Baker Robinson offers a series of friendly amendments to both looking closely at specific translation histories Alex Matson to and from Finnish two English translations of Dostoevsky as well as theoretical models from Aristotle to Peirce to expand the range and power of these concepts In addition to translation and interpreting scholars this book will be of interest to scholars of communication and social interaction Kanonisk selskabsleg i nordisk litteratur Randi Benedikte Brodersen, 2013

Traumaattinen muisti nykyproosassa Riitta Jyttilä, 2022-11-28 This is the first study to examine Finnish trauma fiction in detail The book discusses the novels of Katja Kettu Sofi Oksanen Elina Hirvonen and Emmi Itäranta where historical and collective traumas meet stories of personal vulnerability Traumatic Memory in Contemporary Prose Fiction addresses war traumas and marks left by terrorism colonialism domestic violence and sexual violence and analyses the aspects of ecological trauma and future threats The study combines the latest discussions on cultural memory studies and trauma theory with critical perspectives offered by feminist criticism and research in transnationalism It illustrates how cultural narratives literary conventions and aesthetic strategies regulate and produce traumatic experiences Traumatic memory is not only a phenomenon dealing with the past but it involves a wide range of individual cultural ecological political and economic dimensions

The Narrative Turn in Urban Planning Lieven Aemeel, 2020-11-15 Narratives in the context of urban planning matter profoundly Planning theory and practice have taken an increasing interest in the role and power of narrative and yet there is no comprehensive study of how narrative and concepts from narrative and literary theory more broadly can enrich planning and policy The Narrative Turn in Urban Planning addresses this gap by defining key concepts such as story narrative and plot against a planning backdrop and by drawing up a functional typology of different planning narratives In two extended case studies from the planning of the Helsinki waterfront it applies the narrative concepts and theories to a broad range of texts and practices considering ways toward a more conscious and contextualized future urban planning Questioning what is meant when we speak of narratives in urban planning and what typologies we can draw up it presents a threefold taxonomy of narratives within a planning framework This book will serve as an important reference text for upper level students and researchers interested in urban planning Terrains of Imagination in Contemporary Finnish Literature Sarianna Kankkunen, 2024-12-24 This study examines experienced space in Maarit Verronen's works of prose fiction. The study aligns itself with the contemporary approach often referred to as spatial literary studies, a movement connected to the spatial turn within the humanities. Theoretically, the study draws on multiple fields of spatial studies from semiotics of space to critical theory and poststructuralism. By providing a categorization on different approaches within spatial literary studies, the study promotes literary studies that utilize spatial theory and explores how spatial concepts can be effectively used as tools for close reading. Since the study aims to provide a longitudinal section of Verronen's oeuvre, the selected material spans the author's early works from the 1990s to the late 2000s. The corpus involves six novels and two short stories. The analysis begins with the fantastic realms of Verronen's early career, proceeds to consider wilderness and wild spaces, turns to visions of dystopic futures, and concludes in the narratives of homecoming and homesteading. The study shows that Verronen's fantasy draws its allegorical potential from the juxtaposition of spatialized binary semantic oppositions. By analyzing Verronen's dystopian novels, the study unravels the spatial nature of the genre and the critical potential it encompasses. Verronen's narratives on wilderness are approached through the notion of spatial practices and in the context of alienation and postpastoralism. Finally, the analysis on the literary homes and the acts of homesteading in Verronen's novels foregrounds the open, connected, and inclusive nature of the contemporary notion of home and new forms of attachment to place, both of which are under an active debate in spatial literary studies. By bringing together spatial literary studies and Verronen's works, this research adds to the study of Finnish literature and contemporary literature's emphasis on space, spatiality, and environmental issues. Moreover, the study contributes to the knowledge on the genres of fantasy and dystopia, as well as to the study of classic literary tropes and their contemporary manifestations. As the study contextualizes Verronen's works within Nordic and European literatures, it draws attention to the thematic and stylistic connections that link her writing to broader literary trends and traditions.

Pikkanen, 2015-05-13 This volume addresses the prominent and in many ways highly similar role that historical fiction has played in the formation of the two neighbouring young nations, Finland and Estonia. It gives a multi-sided overview of the function of the historical novel during different periods of Finnish and Estonian history from the 1800s until the present day, and it provides detailed close readings of selected authors and literary trends in their social, political, and cultural contexts. This book addresses nineteenth-century fictional foundations, historical fiction of the new nation states in the interwar period, as well as post-Second World War Soviet Estonian novels and modern historiographic metafiction. Tarkoituksista ja keinoista Jarkko Tontti, 2022-09-13 Jarkko Tontti pureutuu aikamme ja kulttuurimme keskeisiin kysymyksiin puolustaen liberaalia demokratiaa.
