A Mind for Language Harry van der Hulst, 2023-09-21 How does human language arise in the mind To what extent is it innate or something that is learned How do these factors interact The questions surrounding how we acquire language are some of the most fundamental about what it means to be human and have long been at the heart of linguistic theory This book provides a comprehensive introduction to this fascinating debate unravelling the arguments for the roles of nature and nurture in the knowledge that allows humans to learn and use language An interdisciplinary approach is used throughout allowing the debate to be examined from philosophical and cognitive perspectives It is illustrated with real life examples and the theory is explained in a clear easy to read way making it accessible for students and other readers without a background in linguistics An accompanying website contains a glossary questions for reflection discussion themes and project suggestions to further deepen students understanding of the material Stacked Decks Robin Bartram, 2022-08-19 Sociologist Robin Bartram here uses both ethnography and statistical analysis to show how the actions of individuals affect or attempt to affect housing inequality And the individuals at the heart of this book are Chicago s building inspectors Though we rarely see them at work building inspectors have the power to significantly shape our lives through their discretionary decisions Using a mixed methods analysis of the building inspectors who respond to complaints about housing conditions in Chicago Bartram both calls attention to the importance of these frontline workers and the power of their agency as she reveals surprising patterns in the judgment calls inspectors make when deciding whom to cite for building code violations The inspectors mostly men mostly white recognize that they work within an uneven housing landscape one that systematically disadvantages poor people and people of color through redlining property taxes and city spending that favor wealthy neighborhoods Though they often act out of a desire to bring justice to the uneven playing field by penalizing those perceived as advantaged these stabs at justice do little to change a housing system that works against those with the fewest resources Harper's, 2010 Arts & Humanities Citation Index, 1983 A multidisciplinary index covering the journal literature of the arts and humanities It fully covers 1 144 of the world s leading arts and humanities journals and it indexes individually selected relevant items from over 6 800 major science and social science journals Resurrection Michael J.
