Modeling Steven P. Reise, Dennis A. Revicki, 2014-11-20 Item response theory IRT has moved beyond the confines of educational measurement into assessment domains such as personality psychopathology and patient reported outcomes Classic and emerging IRT methods and applications that are revolutionizing psychological measurement particularly for health assessments used to demonstrate treatment effectiveness are reviewed in this new volume World renowned contributors present the latest research and methodologies about these models along with their applications and related challenges Examples using real data some from NIH PROMIS show how to apply these models in actual research situations Chapters review fundamental issues of IRT modern estimation methods testing assumptions evaluating fit item banking scoring in multidimensional models and advanced IRT methods New multidimensional models are provided along with suggestions for deciding among the family of IRT models available Each chapter provides an introduction describes state of the art research methods demonstrates an application and provides a summary The book addresses the most critical IRT conceptual and statistical issues confronting researchers and advanced students in psychology education and medicine today Although the chapters highlight health outcomes data the issues addressed are relevant to any content domain The book addresses IRT models applied to non educational data especially patient reported outcomes Differences between cognitive and non cognitive constructs and the challenges these bring to modeling The application of multidimensional IRT models designed to capture typical performance data Cutting edge methods for deriving a single latent dimension from multidimensional data A new model designed for the measurement of constructs that are defined on one end of a continuum such as substance abuse Scoring individuals under different multidimensional IRT models and item banking for patient reported health outcomes How to evaluate measurement invariance diagnose problems with response categories and assess growth and change Part 1 reviews fundamental topics such as assumption testing parameter estimation and the assessment of model and person fit New emerging and classic IRT models including modeling multidimensional data and the use of new IRT models in typical performance measurement contexts are examined in Part 2 Part 3 reviews the major applications of IRT models such as scoring item banking for patient reported health outcomes evaluating measurement invariance linking scales to a common metric and measuring growth and change The book concludes with a look at future IRT applications in health outcomes measurement The book summarizes the latest advances and critiques foundational topics such as multidimensionality assessment of fit handling non normality as well as applied topics such as differential item functioning and multidimensional linking Intended for researchers advanced students and practitioners in psychology education and medicine interested in applying IRT methods this book also serves as a text in advanced graduate courses on IRT or measurement Familiarity with factor analysis latent variables IRT and basic measurement theory is assumed Data

Analysis, Classification, and Related Methods Henk A.L. Kiers, Jean-Paul Rasson, Patrick J.F. Groenen, Martin Schader, 2012-12-06 This volume contains a selection of papers presented at the Seventh Conference of the International Federation of Classification Societies IFCS 2000 which was held in Namur Belgium July 11-14 2000 From the originally submitted papers a careful review process involving two reviewers per paper led to the selection of 65 papers that were considered suitable for publication in this book The present book contains original research contributions innovative applications and overview papers in various fields within data analysis classification and related methods Given the fast publication process the research results are still up to date and coincide with their actual presentation at the IFCS 2000 conference The topics captured are Cluster analysis Comparison of clusterings Fuzzy clustering Discriminant analysis Mixture models Analysis of relationships data Symbolic data analysis Regression trees Data mining and neural networks Pattern recognition Multivariate data analysis Robust data analysis Data science and sampling The IFCS International Federation of Classification Societies The IFCS promotes the dissemination of technical and scientific information data analysis classification related methods and their applications Statistical Methods for Quality of Life Studies Mounir Mesbah, Bernard F. Cole, Mei-Ling Ting Lee, 2013-06-29 On October 16 and 17 2000 we hosted an international workshop entitled Statistical Design Measurement and Analysis of Health Related Quality of Life The workshop was held in the beautiful city of Arradon South Brittany France with the main goal of fostering an interdisciplinary forum for discussion of theoretical and applied statistical issues arising in studies of health related quality of life HRQoL Included were biostatisticians psychometricians and public health professionals e.g. physicians sociologists psychologists active in the study of HRQoL In assembling this volume we invited each conference participant to contribute a paper based on his or her presentation and the ensuing and very interesting discussions that took place in Arradon All papers were peer reviewed by anonymous reviewers and revised before final editing and acceptance Although this process was quite time consuming we believe that it greatly improved the volume as a whole making this book a valuable contribution to the field of HRQoL research The volume presents a broad spectrum of papers presented at the Workshop and thus illustrates the range of current research related to the theory methods and applications of HRQoL as well as the interdisciplinary nature of this work Following an introduction written by Sir David Cox it includes 27 articles organized into the following chapters

Introduction to Nonparametric Item Response Theory Klaas Sijtsma, Ivo W. Molenaar, 2002-03-12 This book introduces social and behavioral science students and researchers to the theory and practice of the highly powerful methods of nonparametric item response theory IRT Anyone who uses or constructs tests or questionnaires for measuring abilities achievements personality traits attitudes or opinions will find nonparametric IRT useful for designing and improving such measurements The authors show how the broadness of the nonparametric item response models allows them to fit many data sets and remain powerful enough for implying useful measurement properties such as the ordering of persons using the simple total score number correct for dichotomous item tests and sum of rating scale score for polytomous item tests and the ordering of the items using the item means Ordinal Item Response Theory Wijbrandt H. van Schuur, 2011-05-04

Measurement in the social sciences often refers to standardized answers to close ended questions in which answers are analyzed as if they were measurements on an interval scale This volume presents a measurement model that maintains the ordinal aspects of the data in order to establish how well the model fits and how it measures subjects and items It relaxes the most stringent assumptions from parametric item response theory while maintaining its advantages over classical measurement methods such as reliability and factor analysis This volume is less technical than other books on the topic and is ideal for introductory courses in social science measurement Random Walk, Sequential Analysis And Related

Topics: A Festschrift In Honor Of Yuan-shih Chow Agnes Chao Hsiung, Zhiliang Ying, Cun-hui Zhang, 2006-12-06 This volume is a collection of papers in celebration of the 80th birthday of Yuan Shih Chow whose influential work in probability and mathematical statistics has contributed greatly to mathematics education and the development of statistics research and application in Taiwan and mainland China The twenty two papers cover a wide range of problems reflecting both the broad scope of areas where Professor Chow has made major contributions and recent advances in probability theory and statistics

Li, 2022-06-01 Big Data and Information Theory are a binding force between various areas of knowledge that allow for societal advancement Rapid development of data analytic and information theory allows companies to store vast amounts of information about production inventory service and consumer activities More powerful CPUs and cloud computing make it possible to do complex optimization instead of using heuristic algorithms as well as instant rather than offline decision making The era of big data challenges includes analysis capture curation search sharing storage transfer visualization and privacy violations Big data calls for better integration of optimization statistics and data mining In response to these challenges this book brings together leading researchers and engineers to exchange and share their experiences and research results about big data and information theory applications in various areas This book covers a broad range of topics including statistics data mining data warehouse implementation engineering management in large scale infrastructure systems data driven sustainable supply chain network information technology service offshoring project issues online rumors governance preliminary cost estimation and information system project selection The chapters in this book were originally published in the journal International Journal of Management Science and Engineering Management

The Aftermath of War Albert Simkus, 2016-04-01 At a time when most observers saw war in Europe as belonging to an ever more distant past the wars of Yugoslav succession shattered this illusion The direct and indirect consequences of these wars for people in the region are still not fully understood but it is clear that the war has had far Vingerhoets,Randolph R. Cornelius,2012-12-06 Crying is a typical human expression of emotion Surprisingly until now little scientific attention has been devoted to this phenomenon Many textbooks on emotion fail to pay attention to it and in scientific journals there are hardly any contributions focusing on this behavior In contrast there is much interest from the lay public allowing pseudo scientists to formulate theories that have little or no scientific basis Is there any evidence in support of statements that crying is healthy or that not crying may result in toxification How do people react to the crying of others Is crying important for the diagnosis of depression and if so how This book aims to fill this gap in scientific literature Crying is discussed from several perspectives and specific attention is given to methodological issues and assessment Each chapter provides a review and a summary of the relevant scientific literature Mokken Scale & Complex Sampling Designs: insights Andrade,Marcia,2016-10-03 This is the first e book that presents some insights into the construction of Mokken scales with complex survey data and in particular the estimation of Mokken s scalability coefficients Hij Hi and H with binary responses Every day researchers work with complex samples selected from finite populations of interest to make inferences about population parameters However in many situations these samples are assumed as SRS samples Serious consequences have been reported in the complex survey data literature

when this assumption is considered I invite you to find out a little more about some relevant contributions to the development of the Psychometry under complex sampling designs as highlighted in this e book Keywords Mokken scaling Mokken scale analysis complex data Complex Mokken design effect clustering sampling weights stratification clustered samples variance estimation point estimation large scale educational surveys Jackknife resampling technique Non Parametric Item Response Theory

Quality Research in Literacy and Science Education Mack C. Shelley, Larry D. Yore, Brian B. Hand, 2008-12-30 Statistical models attempt to describe and quantify relationships between variables In the models presented in this chapter there is a response variable sometimes called dependent variable and at least one predictor variable sometimes called independent or explanatory variable When investigating a possible cause and effect type of relationship the response variable is the putative effect and the predictors are the hypothesized causes Typically there is a main predictor variable of interest other predictors in the model are called covariates Unknown covariates or other independent variables not controlled in an experiment or analysis can affect the dependent or outcome variable and mislead the conclusions made from the inquiry Bock Velleman given the model p is the probability that a relationship is seen by mere chance The smaller the p value the more confident we can be that the pattern seen in the data is not random In the type of models examined here the R measures the proportion of the variation in the response variable that is explained by the predictors specified in the model if R is close to 1 then almost all the variation in the response variable has been explained This measure is also known as the multiple correlation coefficient Statistical studies can be grouped into two types experimental and observational
