

Solving Equations

Many algebra problems are actually based on being comfortable in using equal unknown quantities, or equations, as a statement that the quantities involved are the same as quantities that cannot change (the unknowns) while creating statements that represent the actual situation. For example, if a car travels 60 miles per hour for 3 hours, it will travel 180 miles. This is a statement that can be used to solve a problem.

While there are many properties of real numbers and properties of equations that can be used to solve equations, properties that help solve equations are:

Basic Properties of Equations

Substitution property

If two quantities differ and one quantity is substituted for the other in an equation, the equation remains true.

$$x = 5 \text{ and } 5 + 3 = 8 \text{ so } x + 3 = 8$$

Substitution property

$$x = 5 \text{ and } 5 + 3 = 8 \text{ so } x + 3 = 8$$

If two equations are true and the substitution property is used, the resulting equation will be true. For example, if $x = 5$ and $5 + 3 = 8$, then $x + 3 = 8$ is true.

$$x = 5 \text{ and } 5 + 3 = 8 \text{ so } x + 3 = 8$$
