

EDITORIAL

Changes to the South African Family Practice Journal

At the end of 2018 the contract with Medpharm to publish the South African Family Practice Journal was up for renewal. Over the last five years Medpharm has enabled the journal to obtain accreditation with the US National Library of Medicine and to be searchable on PubMed. This has raised the visibility and accessibility of the journal considerably, particularly as the original research is published on an international platform managed by Taylor and Francis.

While we have renewed our contract with Medpharm to publish the journal, we have also asked for some changes. This is the official journal of the South African Academy of Family Physicians and members benefit from receiving the hardcopy of the journal in the post. In future the hardcopy of the journal will only be posted to members of the Academy. If you are not a member of the Academy then you may find that you no longer receive the journal. In order to continue receiving the hardcopy of the journal you can join the Academy as a full or associate member: <http://saafp.org/index.php/2011-12-09-13-16-10/membership-categories>

The journal will remain freely available on-line as an open-access resource to all. In future, however, we have asked Medpharm to publish all the content on the Taylor and Francis website so that one only needs to engage with one portal. The Medpharm website will simply re-direct readers to the Taylor and Francis website.

Apart from original research, the journal is also committed to providing continuing professional development. As we go forward we hope to align our CPD topics even more closely to the learning needs of our members. Please let us know if you have any suggestions for topics that should be addressed. Members of the Academy will continue to receive access to Continuing Education Units to meet all their annual needs via www.ecpd.co.za

Over this same period our long standing editor, Professor Gboyega Ogunbanjo, has stepped down as Editor-in-Chief. The Academy is grateful to him for his guidance, commitment and leadership of the journal over many years.

The new Editor-in-Chief will be Dr Klaus von Presentin. Dr von Presentin is a family physician at Mossel Bay District Hospital, he has a PhD in Family Medicine and has experience as the Assistant Editor of the African Journal of Primary Health Care and Family Medicine. We have also appointed Prof Indiran Govender as Assistant Editor. Prof Govender is an academic family physician attached to Sefako Makgatho Health Sciences University with a good track record of research publication, peer review and examination.

The term of office for the Editorial Board also came to an end in 2018 and the new Editors will also appoint a new Editorial Board to offer support and strategic direction.

So, many changes, but all designed to maintain and improve the academic standards of the journal and the value of the journal to members of the Academy.

Before signing off I would also like to draw your attention to the annual National Family Practitioner Conference that will be held in Midrand from 23–25 August 2019. The theme of this year's conference will be "The primary healthcare team: Roles and alignment to the ideals of the NHI". In addition to a focus on implementation of national health insurance, the conference will provide an opportunity for continuing professional development, engagement with the latest research, debate and discussion as well as special interest groups such as our registrars and clinical trainers. To register and obtain more information please go to the website: <http://saafp.org/conferences/index.php/ANFPC>

South African Family Practice Journal:

Choice and conscience: Lessons from South Africa for a global debate Satang Nabaneh, 2023-11-08 Choice and Conscience offers a fresh and insightful perspective on the highly debated issue of conscientious objection in abortion care. Satang Nabaneh's socio-legal approach, which draws on both traditional legal scholarship and African feminist intellectual traditions, provides a nuanced understanding of how legal norms construct and maintain power relations. By focusing on the experiences of nurses in South Africa, Nabaneh explores the complexities of conscience, discretionary power, and socio-cultural and political factors that influence nurses' decisions about whether or not to conscientiously object. In the wake of the recent rollback of abortion rights in the United States and the trend towards liberalisation within the African region, Nabaneh provides an important African perspective on how the international human rights framework should strike a contextual balance between freedom of conscience and ensuring access to abortion. Choice and Conscience will interest lawyers, activists, policymakers, scholars, and students exploring the dynamic intersections of law, healthcare, and gender politics. Choice and Conscience stands as a significant and valuable addition to the ongoing global scholarship on this critical issue. It underscores the vital concept that intersectionality should occupy a central place in our examination of how various local contexts give rise to layered forms of privilege and disadvantage. Dr Tlaleng Mofokeng, UN Special Rapporteur on the right to health. Nabaneh's study of law in action zeroes in on South African nurses' gatekeepers who often object to the practice for reasons of conscience. Her interviews of these nurses and her analysis complicate our understanding of challenges to abortion access, providing lessons applicable not only to South Africa and other African countries but everywhere where there is a gap between formal law and its application. Mindy Jane Roseman, JD, PhD, Yale Law School. Written from an African feminist perspective, this book offers fresh insights into our understanding of the intersection between politics, mobilisation of discretionary power, and the exercise of conscientious objection to abortion by mid-level providers. Charles Ngwenya, Professor of Law, Centre for Human Rights, University of Pretoria. This book offers powerful insights about how informal and background norms in health systems function to constrain or enable reproductive justice. Focusing on conscientious objection to abortion by nurses, including midwives in South Africa, Nabaneh sketches the importance of a feminist analysis that is situated in Africans' lived realities. Alicia Ely Yamin, Harvard University.

International Perspectives on Primary Care Research Felicity Goodyear-Smith, Bob Mash, 2017-04-28 International Perspectives on Primary Care Research examines how the evidence base from primary care research can strengthen health care services and delivery, tackle the growing burden of disease, improve quality and safety, and increase a person-centred focus to health care. Demonstrating the inter-professional nature of the discipline, the book also features a section on cross-national organisations and primary care networks supporting research. National perspectives are offered from researchers in 20 countries that form part of the World Organization of Family Doctors, providing case histories from research-rich to resource-poor nations that illustrate the range of research development and capacity building This book argues the importance of primary care research especially to policy makers decision makers and funders in informing best practice training primary health care providers and achieving equitable distribution of care Utilisation of South African Research on Higher Education Jan Botha ,Gabriele

Vilyte,2021-10-26 The relationship between research on the one hand and policy practice on the other hand is complicated and collaboration between scholars in research on higher education RHE and institutional research IR practitioners is often lacking This book marks a collaborative effort of a diverse range of South African RHE and IR scholars and asks the overarching questions What do we know about the utilisation of South African research on higher education SARHE and its subset of research known as Institutional Research How and by whom is this research used The book begins by looking at the historical underpinnings of SARHE and delineating the shape and size of this body of research This is followed by a series of case studies on South African Higher Education institutions and governmental bodies investigating how when and by whom are research on higher education and institutional research used in the decision making of these organisations This book is the first of its kind in South Africa and sets out to lay the groundwork for further research into the use uptake and utilisation of RHE and IR in this country The Oxford Handbook of the South African Economy Arkebe Oqubay,Fiona

Navigating Womanhood in Contemporary Botswana Stephanie S. Starling, 2023-09-07 Exploring the social construction of womanhood in Tswana culture this book questions how gendered expectations are shifting in the context of a rapidly changing environment Seismic social change is underfoot in Botswana and gender relations are in flux The government's enactment of extensive legal reforms national programmes and international instruments has gone a long way towards ensuring gender equality on an official basis However conventionally defined gender roles continue to present major obstacles for women This book explores what it means to be a woman today in Botswana The concept of womanhood as a mark of status and responsibility is interrogated and the social consequences of failing to meet the criteria for womanhood are explored Stephanie S Starling considers the multiple and often contradictory burdens women face the strategies they employ and the sacrifices they make to meet their obligations Caught between traditional expectations and modern desires women share stories of agency creativity and struggle in defining their own paths A reflexive account of the fieldwork is presented confronting the ethical challenges of cross cultural research from a feminist standpoint

Ethics in Research Practice and Innovation Sandu, Antonio, Frunza, Ana, Unguru, Elena, 2018-11-16 A particularly important component of any research project is its ethical dimensions which can refer to varied categories of practice from the protection of human subjects involved in medical and social research to the publication of results research. More recently with the estimation of the possible consequences of the implementation of technology it is important for today's researchers to address the standards of scientific practice and avoid unethical behavior. Ethics in Research Practice and Innovation is an essential reference source that discusses current and historical aspects of ethical values in scientific research and technologies as well as emerging perspectives of conducting ethical research in a variety of fields. Featuring research on topics such as clinical trials, human subjects and informed consent, this book is ideally designed for practitioners, medical professionals, nurses, researchers, scientists, scholars, academicians, policy makers and students seeking coverage on the ethical risks and limitations of research practice.

Complexities and challenges in preventive audiology Katijah Khoza-Shangase, 2023-03-01. The success of any preventive healthcare programme is reliant on a functional healthcare system. Within this system of care, healthcare professionals including audiologists can only practice safely and effectively if they possess an appreciation of the complexities and challenges that exist in that context. Where healthcare professionals have such awareness that aids them to recognise opportunities for errors that can cause patients harm and where they take steps to prevent these mistakes is where preventive audiology is positioned. This edited book, Complexities and Challenges in Preventive Audiology: An African Perspective, is a sequel to another book by the current editor titled Preventive Audiology: An African Perspective. While in the process of editing that book, the editor identified that a lacuna of contextually relevant collation of evidence on complexities and challenges faced by the field of audiology within the African context in implementing preventive audiology existed. The goal of this book is to delve into these complexities and challenges for various key areas in audiology. All chapters deliberate on evidence-based perspectives grounded in the African context with deliberate and preferential reliance on contemporary locally relevant evidence that allows for accurate reflection of current complexities and challenges in ear and hearing care delivery within the African context. Contributors were encouraged to be as comprehensive as possible in their review of the literature within the African context where available. Complexities brought about by context such as cultural and linguistic diversity as well as traditional and alternative healthcare on preventive audiology within the South African context are also covered in this book. As each chapter explores prevailing complexities and challenges, potential solutions and recommendations for all challenges identified are also offered, having carefully and deliberately engaged with local evidence, local context and local policies and regulations to ensure an Afrocentric contribution to the world of evidence. All chapters in the book have a goal of ensuring that increased efforts are directed towards the provision of clinical services that are driven through best practice by contextually relevant and responsive evidence.

Health and Educational Success Tebogo Maria Mothiba, Takalani Mutshatshi, Irene Ramavhoya, 2023-12-06. This book discusses health and educational success from a variety of perspectives. It discusses the management of various health conditions such as diabetic mellitus, epilepsy, mental health, hepatitis and HIV/AIDS. It covers a broad range of topics including strategies that can be used in a healthcare setting in communication as well as transmission of knowledge from one generation to another The focus of the chapters is on patients and their families physiotherapy occupational therapy biokinetics nursing medical students and their facilitators educators and institutions of higher education As such this book is relevant to a variety of sectors in health and education African Womanhood and the Feminist Agenda Musungafi, Maxwell Constantine Chando, Hungwe, Chipso, 2024-01-16 Within academic circles there is a longstanding issue concerning the portrayal and understanding of African womanhood Frequently these narratives are crafted by outsiders predominantly Western scholars often distorting the lived experiences and unique perspectives of African women This has led to a skewed and sometimes negative perception of African women reinforcing stereotypes and sidelining their voices in critical discussions Moreover this misrepresentation has real world consequences as it impacts social justice initiatives and development projects that rely on misguided narratives rather than the authentic voices of African women African Womanhood and the Feminist Agenda emerges as an essential solution to the misrepresentation of African women This comprehensive and meticulously researched book offers an alternative narrative one that is rooted in African perspectives and experiences It addresses the historical cultural and political dimensions of African womanhood providing a rich and nuanced understanding of this multifaceted topic Scaling Up Health Innovations in Africa Obidimma Ezezika, 2025-09-23 Health practitioners have successfully developed evidence based health innovations to solve public health problems However challenges remain in translating and scaling up these innovations to save and improve lives in Africa Scaling Up Health Innovations in Africa focuses on the lessons learned from scaling up health innovations across the continent Obidimma Ezezika provides engaging and insightful evidence on the challenges and triumphs of taking health innovations to scale drawing from hundreds of interviews with practitioners on the ground The book includes stories anecdotes and lessons from experiences in eleven African countries including Kenya Rwanda Tanzania Nigeria Burkina Faso Uganda and Mozambique It addresses the unique socio cultural financial and logistical constraints faced in these regions alongside insights successes and next steps for scaling innovations within the African context The book critically emphasizes the importance of understanding how implementation science can aid in scaling up innovations in Africa While there have been disparate works on scaling specific health innovations in Africa a unified series of cases is needed from an implementation science perspective to create generalizable lessons and principles Ultimately Scaling Up Health Innovations in Africa offers valuable insights around implementation strategies that translate health innovations to achieve broad impact

Preventive audiology Katijah Khoza-Shangase, 2023-03-01 This book is an original scholarly book that introduces the concept of preventive audiology with a specific focus on the African context which is in line with the South African re engineered primary healthcare strategy as well as the World Health Organisation s approach The book reflects on contextually relevant and responsive evidence based perspectives grounded in an African context on preventive audiology in four major ear and hearing burdens of disease within the South African context 1 early hearing detection and intervention 2 middle ear pathologies 3 ototoxicity and 4 noise induced hearing loss The book represents innovative research seen from both a South African and global perspective It offers new discourse and argues for a paradigm shift in how audiology is theorised and performed particularly in low and middle income country contexts The goal of this book is to motivate a paradigm shift in how the ear and hearing care is approached within this low and middle income country context while arguing for Afrocentric best practice evidence that leads to next practice Early Detection and Intervention in Audiology Katijah Khoza-Shangase, Amisha Kanji, 2021-02-01 A textbook with case studies for audiologists and speech pathologists to make recommendations for early detection and intervention of hearing impairments in the South African context Early hearing detection and intervention EHDI is the gold standard for any practicing audiologist and for families of infants and children with hearing impairment EHDI programs aim to identify diagnose and provide intervention to children with hearing impairment from as early as six months old as well as those at risk for hearing impairment to ensure they develop and achieve to their potential Yet EHDI remains a significant challenge for Africa and various initiatives are in place to address this gap in transferring policy into practice within the southern African context The diversity of factors in the southern African context presents unique challenges to teaching and research in this field which has prompted this book project The South African government's heightened focus on increasing access to health care which includes ongoing Early Childhood Development ECD programs make this an opportune time for establishing and documenting evidence based research for current undergraduate and postgraduate students Early Detection and Intervention in Audiology An African Perspective aims to address this opportunity Grounded in an African context with detailed case studies this book provides rich content that pays careful attention to contextual relevance and contextual responsiveness to both identification and intervention in hearing impairment With diverse contributions from experts in local and international contexts but always with an African perspective this is textbook will be an invaluable resource for students researchers and practitioners Family Medicine Michael Kidd, 2016-09-19 Containing papers carefully compiled for both their historical importance and contemporary relevance Family Medicine The Classic Papers brings together a team of experts led by global family medicine leaders Michael Kidd Iona Heath and Amanda Howe who explain the importance of each selected paper and how it contributes to international health care current practice and research The papers demonstrate the broad scope of primary health care delivered by family doctors around the world showcasing some of the most important research ever carried out in family medicine and primary care This unique volume will serve as an inspiration to current family doctors and family medicine researchers and educators as well as to doctors in training medical students and emerging researchers in family medicine Pediatric Psychology in Clinical Practice Kristin Kroll, 2020-01-16 A practical guide to providing evidence based mental health care for children and adolescents with chronic medical concerns Sustainable Uses and Prospects of Medicinal Plants Learnmore Kambizi, Callistus Bvenura, 2023-05-05 Sustainable Uses and Prospects of Medicinal Plants presents information on less known and underexplored medicinal plant species in various regions of the world. The book investigates current advances in medicinal plant science and includes detailed information on the use of green nanotechnology, characterization of plants, conservation, revitalization, propagation, and pharmacological activities of selected plants. A volume in the Exploring Medicinal Plants series, it collects information on less known medicinal plant species in various regions of the world for documentation, profiling their ethnobotany, developments in their phytochemistry and pharmacological activities, and provides an in-depth look at some specific herbal medicines of importance threatened and less known species and addresses sustainable utilization and conservation of medicinal plants to ensure existence and use. Appropriate for plant and biodiversity conservation organisations, community leaders, academicians, researchers, and pharmaceutical industry personnel, the book comprises innovative works with information of what is expected to address sustainability in the future.

The International Handbook on Aging Erdman P. Palmore, Frank Whittington, Suzanne Kunkel, 2009-10-27 The United Nations World Assembly on Aging has made advancing health and well-being into old age a worldwide call for action. And this text at hand shows us what researchers worldwide are doing to answer that call. Here three of America's most esteemed experts on aging lead a global team of contributors, each an expert in his or her country, to show us what the top challenges of each nation are and what top research is being done there to meet those. While we cannot predict with absolute certainty all of the issues that will arise over the next 20 years, we can anticipate some and we must start now to prepare for these challenges. An expert from the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services warned at a recent UN World Assembly on Aging: Needed response to the global population shift is not just the responsibility of governments but will be a product of wise long-term decisions made by individuals and societies, she explained. In most nations globally, populations are graying, and the number of people aged 65 and older is vastly increasing, creating a larger segment of senior citizens than the world has ever before seen. Across human history, the elderly accounted for no more than 3 percent of the world population. By the year 2030, the elderly are expected to make up about 25 percent of the world population. And while longevity is of course seen as a great success, longer lifespan for such masses also creates dilemmas. For example, the incidence of dementia has already increased significantly, with an 11-fold increase in people aged 65 and older in the US since the turn of the century, and a similar increase in aged people in Scotland. Researchers there are scrambling to find treatments for what they expect will be a 75 percent increase in dementia over the next 25 years. Chronic diseases that come with aging are already taxing health care systems in the US and around the world. To Japan, with most experts aware their current health systems would be overrun and lack enough staff and facilities to handle the needs of an elderly population multiplying largely in the coming two decades. Increases in psychological issues such as dealing with the depression often striking aged people are impending too, as are social issues such as how families and public policies will deal
