Son of the South Wind Arva Moore Parks,2015-11-03 The story of developers selling off the Sunshine State is as old as the first railroad tracks laid across the peninsula But seldom do we hear about the men who actually built a better Florida In George Merrick Son of the South Wind South Florida historian Arva Moore Parks recounts George Merrick s quest to distinguish himself from the legions of developers who sought only profit Helping to create the land boom of the 1920s Merrick transformed his family s citrus grove just outside of Miami into one of the finest planned communities the master suburb of Coral Gables With a team of architects and city planners he built homes for the growing middle class in the Mediterranean Style using local stone and he invested in public infrastructure by designing and building parks and pools trolley lines and waterways He pledged land for a library and the university that would become the University of Miami Hailed in national publications as a visionary Merrick was green before green a New Urbanist before the movement even had a name As Coral Gables and Merrick prospered he reinvested in education affordable housing and other progressive causes But the Great Depression ravaged Miami and Merrick s idealism cost him his fortune He died with an estate worth less than 400 With unprecedented access to the Merrick family and mining a treasure trove of Merrick s personal letters documents speeches and manuscripts Parks presents the remarkable story of George Merrick and the development of one of the nation s most iconic planned cities
