emergence of professional learning communities and learning networks There are many tensions inherent in relationships between practitioners and academics in terms of the setting of the research agenda the policy implications that may flow from it and the right to publish outcomes Negotiating that relationship requires ethical probity where each party recognises understands and respects mutual responsibilities The book explores this through a wide variety of roles from those of academic researchers consultants and teachers to professional practitioners as researchers and importantly students and children It therefore illustrates a number of differing perspectives about ethics and research which are allied to those roles Drawing on the expertise of international researchers and academics from America Australia and Europe the book provides invaluable support to the novice researcher and illuminates some of the more intricate issues for the more experienced research practitioner Packed with detailed and thought provoking examples this book contains both theoretical analyses of ethical matters and offers practical advice to practitioner and action researchers across the fields of schools hospitals and community and family settings
