Writing For Academic Journals Murray, Rowena, 2013-09-01 This book unravels the process of writing academic papers It tells readers what good papers look like and how they can be written

Writing and Power Candace Mitchell, 2015-12-03 This book offers a much needed alternative to the more traditional texts used to teach writing instruction Grounded in history the book clarifies changing theoretical and practical approaches to teaching writing critically assessing each approach in relation to the social and political movements of the day both within and beyond the university. The author takes us inside the real world of writing instruction not only from the viewpoint of instructor but as seen through the eyes of students struggling to make sense of the expectations of writing class. Mitchell emphasizes that writing entails far more than putting words to paper and delves into contextually variable culturally defined expectations that include multiple linguistic forms both oral and written, highlighting the complexity of writing while engaging the reader in lively academic debates about language and society.

Writing for Academic Journals 4e Rowena Murray, 2019-11-16. This comprehensive guide to writing journal articles addresses all the stages and recurring challenges from targeting a journal to dealing with reviewer feedback. Drawing on many years of running Writing for Publication workshops, Murray explores not only style and structure but also behaviours and emotions. As a key component of both research courses and careers, this timely text also addresses the struggle to make time for high quality academic writing and how to ensure a writing life balance. Examining a variety of approaches relevant to many different academic disciplines, this core text demystifies and defines writing practices and makes this form of high stakes academic writing seem manageable. Writing for journals has never been more competitive and writers, researchers, practitioners and students need expert guidance on productive practices and ways of maintaining focus and motivation which Murray provides. This latest edition is completely updated and more relevant than ever for clinicians, practitioners and students. This book was already a classic but the update makes it even more useful. From finding time to write, doing a short literature review and identifying scam journals, Rowena Murray provides an excellent concise and accessible companion for writing academic journal papers which is appropriate for both students and working academics.

Associate Professor Inger Mewburn, Director of Research Training, The Australian National University, Australia. Rowena Murray has approached publishing in a journal with scientific rigour. Following this book's recommendations will make it impossible to find a convincing excuse for failure to publish. She herself writes with a high level of artisanal skill; this book is fast-paced, stylish and highly readable. Her own extensive experience in supporting journal article writers tempers this book with the credibility of a seasoned veteran. Best of all, there is a wealth of wisdom here in advising on how to publish. Murray is also advising on how to live a satisfying life as a writer.

Associate Professor Susan Carter, University of Auckland, New Zealand. In Writing for Academic Journals 4th edition, Rowena Murray's voice is direct down to earth and wise. Drawing on a depth of practical experience as both published author and writing teacher, she conveys the message that yes, publishing in academic journals is demanding but it's also very possible. And that once you are successful, there is still much to be learned from reading books like this one and hanging out with others in writing groups and workshops. To that end, the book is a trove of tips and techniques helpful to all who pursue the challenging craft of good academic writing.
