Subject: Request for Permission for a Re-Examination in Mathematics

Dear Principal Woolf,

I hope this letter finds you well. My name is Dannie Hurst, a sophomore at Anytown High School, and I am writing to request your permission to retake the Mathematics examination that was held on January 20, 2024.

Unfortunately, I was unwell during the week of the examination, which significantly impacted my ability to prepare and perform as expected. Despite my best efforts to study while recovering, my condition hindered my concentration and retention, leading to a performance that does not accurately reflect my understanding of the subject matter.

I have always strived to maintain a high academic standard, and the grade I received does not represent my true capabilities. I believe a re-examination would allow me to demonstrate my knowledge and skills in Mathematics accurately.

chair with this large tome in hand with the intent of reading it from start to finish. A pity. It would make several enjoyable and profitable days of good reading. The text starts with comments by an individual who is strongly grounded in the fundamentals of being a good physician. Ivan Goldberg has used his brilliance, his wide international experiences and knowledge and his commitment to assuring that physicians know their craft to provide a penetrating perspective on ophthalmology today and tomorrow. The Glaucoma Book ends with commentaries by the editors John Samples, a true physician scientist, and Paul Schacknow, an experienced community based clinician. Samples' essay 'What Really Causes Glaucoma' nicely describes the leading theories underlying the cell biology of glaucoma. In 'What Do We Know Now? What Do We Need to Know About Glaucoma?' Schacknow offers an essay on some of the controversial ideas raised within the book and speculates on future research.
