Connecting High-Quality Educators with Urban Students Sharon Hartin Iorio, 2017-09-18. Recent national attention has focused on the benefits of school-university-community partnerships to increase the pipeline of highly qualified teachers for urban students, but little has been published about large-scale partnerships. This book about one urban teacher education partnership is written for those who want to plan, direct, work in, or study a full-scale pre-K-12 school-university and community partnership. The book offers a comprehensive approach to urban teacher education. Topics cover 1. recruitment of a large-scale Professional Development School model (e.g., 400 candidates per semester) and an early childhood residency graduate program; 2. 20 candidates per cohort; 3. two partnership programs embracing all university preservice teacher candidates; 4. induction support for new teachers; and finally, 5. professional development for candidates and experienced in-service teachers. Each of the six chapters shows how the separate parts of teacher education can be interrelated to build a stronger, more cohesive, integrated system to serve teachers and ultimately Pre-K-12 students. A review and reflection on a single teacher education partnership: this easy-to-use book is clearly documented by interviews, five-year evaluation outcomes.
