Community-based fall armyworm (Spodoptera frugiperda) monitoring, early warning and management Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, Centre for Agriculture and Bioscience

International,2019-02-12 Fall Armyworm FAW Spodoptera frugiperda was first reported in Africa in 2016 Since then it has become a very destructive invasive pest in sub Saharan Africa Its main impact is on maize crops and affects different stages of growth from early vegetative to physiological maturity In several countries affected by FAW attack farmer responses have been predominantly based on the use of chemical pesticides. It is important to ensure the safe use of such pesticides by farmers but also to promote and deploy an integrated pest management (IPM) package against FAW. Farmers need the right advice, tools, and resources to sustainably manage FAW. This manual provides farmers and extension service providers easy-to-use information on how they can manage FAW in smallholder cropping systems. It provides information about modules for training trainers in FAW pest diagnostics, scouting, management, and data collection. The objective of this training is to provide trainers and farmers with the knowledge and skills that will enable them to identify FAW and differentiate it from other similar pests, understand the life cycle of FAW, and know how to monitor and manage the pest. This manual gives trainers the information they need in order to support and sustain an IPM approach for FAW management in their communities. The manual is modular and allows for updates in the future as more knowledge and solutions to manage FAW become available.
