This report provides a summary of health and safety across the organisation in the areas of:

- Health and Safety Performance. The data needed to provide a full understanding of the health and safety performance of the organisation is not currently available. Two streams of work are underway to capture the required data. A limited snapshot of Lost Time Injuries, Total Injuries, and Near Hits is provided for Staff, Capital Works Projects, and Rail Operations.

An update on the December incident that occurred on the AMETI site identified the lack of a site health and safety induction and non-complying fencing as key factors in the incident.

Writing Centres in Higher Education Laura Dison, Sherran Clarence, 2017-01-01. Writing Centres in South Africa and globally are now well established academic support centres within many universities. Historically tasked with supporting students as they grapple with the demands of academic writing, many centres are now moving beyond their own walls to work with academic tutors, lecturers and departments to rethink the ways in which knowledge is transformed into different kinds of disciplinary writing. This move raises pertinent questions for writing centre directors tutors consultants and for the universities that house them how does a centre tasked with supporting more general academic literacy development through writing pedagogies initiate students into a range of particularised discourse communities How do writing centre staff and disciplinary lecturers negotiate their shared and separate concerns for student learning through collaborative writing development projects How do writing centres work with assignments and forms of literacy that challenge them to reconfigure their own pedagogical practices and expand their conceptions of writing support How do writing centres maintain their core focus as they move flexibly beyond their own spaces to understand the nature of disciplinary writing This collection of essays reflects on the ways in which writing centres in South Africa are working in and across disciplines Institutional constraints and challenges that arise from these collaborations are addressed and opportunities for transforming teaching and learning spaces are explored The chapters speak to the global move in higher education to reconsider how knowledge is made who makes it and how support and development opportunities for students and lecturers should be created and sustained across the disciplines This volume contributes to the body of knowledge in the growing field of the scholarship of teaching and learning in higher education in South Africa It builds on the work of the first collection of such essays Changing Spaces Writing Centres and Access to Higher Education Eds A Archer and R Richards 2011 SUN PReSS to understand why working within the disciplines is so critical for writing development in a South African context
