Written In Stone New World Rising Book 1:

Mao's New World Chang-tai Hung, 2017-02-28 In this sweeping portrait of the political culture of the early People's Republic of China PRC Chang tai Hung mines newly available sources to vividly reconstruct how the Chinese Communist Party CCP tightened its rule after taking power in 1949 With political cultural projects such as reconstructing Tiananmen Square to celebrate the Communist Revolution staging national parades rewriting official histories mounting a visual propaganda campaign including oil paintings cartoons and New Year prints and establishing a national cemetery for heroes of the Revolution the CCP built up nationalistic fervor in the people and affirmed its legitimacy These projects came under strong Soviet influence but the nationalistic Chinese Communists sought an independent road of nation building for example they decided that the reconstructed Tiananmen Square should surpass Red Square in size and significance against the advice of Soviet experts sent from Moscow Combining historical cultural and anthropological inquiries Mao's New World examines how Mao Zedong and senior Party leaders transformed the PRC into a propaganda state in the first decade of their rule 1949-1959 Using archival sources only recently made available previously untapped government documents visual materials memoirs and interviews with surviving participants in the Party's plans Hung argues that the exploitation of new cultural forms for political ends was one of the most significant achievements of the Chinese Communist Revolution The book features sixty-six images of architecture monuments and artwork to document how the CCP invented the heroic tales of the Communist Revolution
