Study Guide for World History II Stephanie E. Merritt,United States Armed Forces Institute,1956 Japanese War Crimes and Related Topics: A Guide to Records at the National Archives United States. National Archives and Records Administration,200? This finding aid will help researchers interested in Japanese war crimes war criminals and war crimes trials to navigate the vast holdings of the U S National Archives and Records Administration at College Park NARA It will also be useful to anyone interested in military intelligence political diplomatic economic financial social and cultural activities in the Far East during 1931 1951 as well as to those searching for information regarding Allied prisoners of war the organization functions and activities of American and Allied agencies and the Japanese occupation of countries and the American occupation of Japan While not aimed at researchers interested in the strategic and tactical military and naval history of the war in the Far East this finding aid may nevertheless be useful to those with such interests if only to identify record groups and series of records that may bear on those topics This finding aid covers records from over twenty record groups and includes materials declassified under the Japanese Imperial Government Disclosure Act of 2000 P L 106 567 as well as records that were never classified and those declassified before the passage of the Disclosure Act Because the process of identifying declassifying accessioning and processing of records under the Act is taking place as this finding is being compiled late arriving records may not be identified in this finding aid Researchers should consult the IWG Web site <http://www.archives.gov/iwg> for a complete and up to date list of records declassified under the Japanese Imperial Government Disclosure Act Federal agencies involved in the identification and declassification of relevant classified records ascertained that there were relatively few pertinent records that were still classified Most relevant records were either never classified or were declassified decades before the Act and were already in NARA's custody While this finding aid's coverage is broad it is not comprehensive Researchers may find other relevant series of records within the record groups mentioned or not mentioned Researchers are encouraged to use other finding aids and consult with NARA staff to locate records of interest In addition the National Archives at College Park holds nontextual records such as still photographs and motion pictures that researchers may want to examine Other NARA facilities hold many records and donated material related to World War II including records related to the subjects covered in this finding aid This is particularly true of the Franklin D Roosevelt the Harry S Truman and the Dwight D Eisenhower archives as vast mountain ranges of records with the archivists guiding the expeditions Explorations on familiar well trodden paths produce new perspectives when examined with fresh eyes and imagination

Goldstein,2014-05-27 The Pacific War Papers is an annotated collection of extremely rare Japanese primary source documents translated into English that provides an invaluable resource for historians and students of World War II These naval and diplomatic documents come from the collection of the late Gordon Prange the eminent scholar of Pearl Harbor who obtained them from Japanese naval leaders while working for the Military History Section of the American forces that occupied Japan Donald M Goldstein and Katherine V Dillon have assembled this collection so that these important documents are not lost to history The editors also provide expert commentary to introduce and explain the importance of the materials This book forms the companion volume to The Pearl Harbor Papers Inside the Japanese Plans Brassey's Inc 1993 which

Goldstein and Dillon also edited Most of the documents published here are not available anywhere else with many translated for the first time This edited collection covers three main topics the Japanese navy before World War II prewar diplomacy and politics and Japanese naval operations and policy during the war The documents include diary extracts and candid short monographs written by high ranking Japanese officers immediately after the war They shed new light on the vast naval buildup before the war the development of the navy s operational concepts for war with the United States the organization and tactics of aircraft carrier forces and the failure of Japanese submarine operations No World War II library will be complete without this important volume U.S. Naval Gunfire Support in the Pacific War Donald K. Mitchener, 2021-07-28

On November 20 1943 the U S military invaded the Tarawa Atoll of the Gilbert Islands as part of the first American offensive in the Central Pacific region during World War II This invasion marked more than one first as it was also the introductory test of a doctrine developed during the interwar years to address problems inherent in situations in which amphibious assaults required support by naval gunfire rather than land based artillery In this detailed study Donald K Mitchener documents and analyzes the prewar development of this doctrine as well as its application and evolution between the years 1943 1945 The historical consensus is that the test at Tawara was successful and increased the efficiency with which U S forces were able to apply the doctrine in the Pacific theater for the remainder of the Second World War Mitchener challenges this view arguing that the reality was much more complex He reveals that strategic concerns often took precedence over the lessons learned in the initial engagement and that naval planners failure to stay up to date with the latest doctrinal developments and applications sometimes led them to ignore these lessons altogether U S Naval Gunfire Support in the Pacific War presents an important analysis that highlights the human cost of misinterpreting strategic and tactical realities Magazine War
