The Historical Dynamics of Chinese Politics Guangbin Yang, 2022-07-02 This book puts forward a new perspective the historical dynamics of Chinese politics for better understanding China s politics which is from the vertical history of China and the dimension of horizontal world politics combining the historical analysis of how Chinese politics has come along the way and the comparative analysis of China s governance achievements in world politics Based on this premise this book attempts to explain the democratic discourse of contemporary Chinese political logic The historical dynamics of Chinese politics comes from long term communication between the author and Western scholars which may help the global audience to understand China s politics from all angles

Rebellions and Revolutions Jack Gray, 2002 This is a study of China from the 1800s to the present day It focuses on China s problems of development the decay and collapse of the Chinese Empire its failure to recover in the first half of the twentieth century and its rapid emergence in world affairs since the Communist Party Revolution of 1949 This new edition examines economic growth updates Chinese foreign policy provides a revised account of the Tiananmen Incident and brings the chronology completely up to date

China's Political-Military Evolution Monte R. Bullard, 2019-03-08 In recent years the People s Liberation Army PLA has relinquished much of its political power to China s civilian leadership and has turned to the task of professionalizing the military The transition of the PLA into a relatively apolitical force in Chinese society has occurred alongside great progress toward military modernization with the foundation now laid for the PLA to become one of the world s most powerful military forces Dr Bullard traces the PLA s extremely important and almost revolutionary transition examines the structural changes associated with it and assesses current military policies and trends He discusses in detail the political commissar system the key institution for all political military relationships in the Chinese military system Global

Conjectures William C. Kirby, Mechthild Leutner, Klaus Mühlhahn, 2006 This volume deals with the integration of modern China into processes of global exchange and cross border interaction The articles explore the broader theme in different ways and in different subfields ranging from the history of political ideas to the history of institutions from global migration of people to the transmigration of academic discourses Focusing on modern as well as contemporary periods the studies demonstrate that China in the course of the twentieth century became an ever more important nodal point in a complex set of worldwide networks and engagements The integration into global networks together with the global consciousness that corresponded with it made possible significant connections transcending national borders The essays also show that the effects could be homogenizing or globalizing but at the same time the growing interactions also produced opposition and fragmentation

War and Geopolitics in Interwar Manchuria Chi Man Kwong, 2017-03-06 In War and Geopolitics in Interwar Manchuria Kwong Chi Man revisits the civil wars in China 1925 1928 from the perspective of the often overlooked warlords who fought against the joint forces of the Nationalist and Communist parties In particular this work focuses on Zhang Zuolin the leader of the Fengian Clique who was sometimes seen as the representative of the Japanese interest in Manchuria Using primary and secondary sources from China Japan the United Kingdom and the United States this work tries to revisit the wars during the period from international political military and economic financial perspectives It sheds new light on Zhang Zuolin's decision to fight against the Nationalists and the Communists and offers an alternative explanation to the Nationalists temporary victory by revealing the central importance of geopolitics in the civil wars in China during the interwar period

China At The Crossroads F. Gilbert Chan, 2019-03-08 Concentrating on a transitional epoch 1927 1949 when China was at the crossroads of revolution this book analyzes the Kuomintang's inherent weaknesses as a revolutionary force and the Communists success in the quest for new formulas to guide the modernization movement

China in War and Revolution, 1895-1949 Peter Zarrow, 2006-06-07 Providing historical insights essential to the understanding of contemporary China this book explores the events that led to the rise of communism and a strong central state during the early twentieth century

China's Wars Philip Jowett, 2013-11-20 This new history of China's pivotal wars from 1894 to 1949 explains how China was transformed from a isolated and ramshackle medieval empire into a fledgling new world power China is one of the great powers of the modern world Yet in the late 19th century China was a ramshackle and isolated medieval empire upon whom the European colonial powers could impose their wishes at will China's Wars describes the series of conflicts from 1894 to 1949 that forged modern China from colonial clashes such as the Boxer Rebellion through the chaotic years of warlord domination to the Japanese invasion the Second World War and the bitter Civil War that followed Previously unpublished photographs contemporary pictures and specially commissioned maps illustrate these tumultuous events and the men who fought them events that would end with the eventual triumph of the Communist Party and the rise of modern China

of the Afghan state and of the political economic challenges and international relations of contemporary Afghanistan. It opens with an account of some of the key features that make Afghanistan unique and proceeds to discuss how the Afghan state acquired a distinctive character as a rentier state. In addition, the authors outline a complex range of domestic and external factors that led to the breakdown of the state and how that breakdown gave rise to a set of challenges with which Afghan political and social actors have been struggling to deal since the 2001 international intervention that overthrew the anti-modernist Taliban regime. It then presents the different types of politics that Afghanistan has witnessed over the last two decades, examines some of the most important features of the Afghan economy, and demonstrates how Afghanistan's geopolitical location and international relations more broadly have complicated the task of promoting stability in the post-2001 period. It concludes with some reflections on the factors that are likely to shape Afghanistan's future trajectory and notes that if there are hopes for a better future, they largely rest on the shoulders of a globalised generation of younger Afghans. This book will be of interest to students and scholars in the fields of Middle East and Central Asian studies, international relations, politics, development studies, and history. Meeting Technology's Advance James Z. Gao, 1997-10-30

In this first comparative study of Chinese and Zimbabwean railway experiences, Gao examines the role played by technological progress in generating significant social change. His principal concern is with indigenous people whose efforts to meet this technological advance have been neglected or underestimated. Gao shows how different cultural traditions, political situations, and individual interests create an attractive variety of local responses to the challenges and opportunities afforded by technology. He not only describes the final consequences of railway development but emphasizes the dynamic process by which indigenous people first derived then gradually lost most of the gains from modern transport advances. In addition, Gao explores a number of permanent impacts of railways on the two areas, including demographic and structural changes and divisions of race and class. An intriguing study for researchers and students of imperialism and Chinese and African history. China's Unequal Treaties Dong Wang, 2005-10-01

This study, based on primary sources, deals with the linguistic development and polemical uses of the expression 'Unequal Treaties', which refers to the treaties China signed between 1842 and 1946. Although this expression has occupied a central position in both Chinese collective memory and Chinese and English historiographies, this is the first book to offer an in-depth examination of China's encounters with the outside world as manifested in the rhetoric surrounding the Unequal Treaties. Author Dong Wang argues that competing forces within China have narrated and renarrated the history of the treaties in an effort to consolidate national unity, international independence, and political legitimacy and authority. In the twentieth century, she shows, China's experience with these treaties helped to determine their use of international law. Of great relevance for students of contemporary China and Chinese history, as well as Chinese international law and politics, this book illuminates how various Chinese political actors have defined and redefined the past using the framework of the Unequal Treaties. Schoolhouse

Politicians Helen Roberta Chauncey, 1992-01-01 Scholarly study of the Chinese republic 1911-1949 has traditionally viewed the period through its shortcomings notably its failure to establish a secure political order thus allowing the chaos and violence of national power politics to overshadow formative developments taking place at the local level By focusing on the interaction of local politics and the central state Helen Chauncey argues for the importance of local initiative in defining the post imperial state and suggests a rethinking of our understanding of republican period politics Through the prism of educational circles in central Jiangsu province Schoolhouse Politicians challenges assumptions about local elite conservatism by showing how actively politics were pursued in local municipalities well removed from traditional centers of wealth and power It highlights the activism of political entrepreneurs in the arena of local schooling and interprets the apparent disorderly conduct of local republican politics in terms of the strategies activists used to test their right to public association with the central state and to determine what concerns could be addressed through such an association Pursuing a comprehensive approach to the study of local politics this interpretation is sensitive to political intent in a variety of cultural representations from school journals to teachers assemblies to the physical management of public space such as schoolhouses and exercise yards Schoolhouse Politicians makes a compelling case for the central importance of its immediate subject the growth of the elementary and secondary educational establishment as well as illuminating larger questions of state building This carefully crafted local history based on pioneering research is of significance to the field of modern Chinese history It is also a valuable addition to the recent comparative literature on state making that seeks by exploring a variety of occupations and social groups neglected by traditional histories to give due importance to those little studied experiences that helped shape the potential and limits of the modern state From Far East to Asia Pacific Brian P. Farrell, S.R. Joey Long, David Ulbrich, 2022-07-18 The years 1900 to 1954 marked the transformation from an exotic colonized Far East to a more autonomous prominent Asia Pacific This anthology examines the grand strategies of great powers as they vied for influence and ultimately hegemony in the region At the turn of the twentieth century the main contestants included the venerable British Empire and the aspiring Japan and United States The unwieldy leviathan of China the European imperial holdings in Southeast Asia and the expanses of the western Pacific emerged as battlegrounds in literal and geopolitical terms Other less powerful nations such as India Burma Australia and French Indochina also exercised agency in crafting grand strategies to further their interests and in their interactions with those great powers Among the many factors affecting all nations invested in the Asia Pacific were such traditional elements as economics military power and diplomacy as well as fluid traits like ideology culture and personality The era saw the decline of British and European influence in the Asia Pacific the rise and fall of Japanese imperialism the emergence of American primacy the ongoing struggle for independence in Southeast Asia and China's resurrection as a contender for hegemony Great powers shifted and so too did their grand strategies From War to Nationalism Arthur Waldron, 2003-10-16 This book investigates the warlord period in China

focusing on the pivotal year 1924 Avoiding Armageddon Jeremy Black,2012-07-05 Here is an original and up to date account of a key period of military history one that not only links the two World Wars but also anticipates the more complex nature of conflict following the Cold War Black links the two World Wars between the overcoming of trench warfare in the campaigns of 1918 and the fall of France in 1940 This was a period when militaries governments and publics digested the lessons of the Great War and prepared for another major struggle Black also locates the period in terms of long term questions in military history including the relationship between symmetrical and asymmetrical warfare the tensions surrounding innovation the pressures and possibilities created by technological change and the impact of ideology on the causes and conduct of war Avoiding Armageddon devotes particular attention to the Far East as part of Black s worldwide coverage He also assesses the role of the military in internal politics and establishes the importance of civil wars Rebel Economies Nicola Di Cosmo,Didier Fassin,Clémence Pinaud,2021-05-18 As a pervasive occurrence in the contemporary world wars and their economic sources are defining social and political processes in a variety of national and transnational contexts Rebel Economies Warlords Insurgents Humanitarians explores historical anthropological and political dimensions of war economies by non state actors across different periods and regions while presenting their multiple manifestations as a unified congruent phenomenon Through a variety of conceptual and disciplinary approaches the authors investigate in the past and present and across three continents the nexuses between economy war social transformation and state building revealing in the process differences and similarities that would otherwise remain hidden Through this broad gauge approach the book aims first to rethink much of the debate around non state war economies and secondly to expand the conversation by consciously treating this theme as a conspicuous and distinct aspect of both economy and war This is not just a different approach but a fundamental departure from the ways in which current discussions over the economy of wars civil conflicts and revolutions have informed research orientations over several decades Who's Who in Modern History Alan Palmer,2019-05-07 Who s Who in Modern History is a unique reference book which examines those individuals who have shaped the political world since 1860 Coverage is truly global including the most important figures in Europe Asia North America Latin America Africa and Australasia It provides an easy to use A Z layout authoritative detailed biographies of the most important figures since 1860 from Clemenceau and Chief Buthelezi to King Fahd and Benazir Bhutto bibliographical references for each entry to aid further research extensive cross referencing an essential guide for students researchers and the general reader alike
