

The French revolution

The French Revolution was a period of political and social upheaval in France from 1789 to 1799. The Revolution had a profound impact not only on France but on the rest of Europe and the world. It marked the end of the Ancien Régime and the beginning of modern France. This essay will explore the causes of the French Revolution, the key events and figures of the Revolution, and its legacy.

Causes of the French Revolution

The French Revolution was caused by a combination of long-term and short-term factors. The long-term causes included the growing discontent of the French people with the oppressive rule of the Bourbon monarchy and the privileges enjoyed by the nobility and clergy. The French monarchy was widely seen as corrupt, wasteful and out of touch with the needs of the people. Many French people were also inspired by the ideas of the Enlightenment, which emphasized individual freedom, reason, and progress.

The short-term causes of the Revolution were primarily economic. France was facing a severe financial crisis due to its involvement in costly wars, including the American Revolutionary War, and the extravagant spending of King Louis XVI and his court. The government had attempted to raise revenue through taxes, but these measures were highly unpopular and ineffective.

Key events and figures of the French Revolution

The French Revolution can be divided into three main phases: the moderate phase (1789-1792), the radical phase (1792-1794), and the Thermidorian reaction (1794-1799). Each phase was marked by different events and figures.

The moderate phase began with the convening of the Estates-General in May 1789. The Estates-General was a representative assembly composed of members of the three estates: the clergy, the nobility, and the commoners. The commoners, who made up the vast majority of the French population, were dissatisfied with the unequal representation in the Estates-General and formed the National Assembly. On July 14, 1789, a mob stormed the Bastille, a symbol of royal power, in Paris, marking the beginning of the Revolution. In August 1789, the National Assembly abolished feudalism and adopted the Declaration of the Rights of Man and Citizen, which proclaimed liberty, equality, and fraternity as the basis of French society.

Historicising the French Revolution Carolina Armenteros, Tim Blanning, Isabel Noronha-DiVanna, 2009-05-27 Three decades ago François Furet famously announced that the French Revolution was over Napoleon's armies ceased to march around Europe long ago and Louis XVIII even returned to occupy the throne of his guillotined brother And yet the Revolution's memory continues to hold sway over imaginations and cultures around the world This sway is felt particularly strongly by those who are interested in history for the French Revolution not only altered the course of history radically but became the fountainhead of historicism and the origin of the historical mentality The sixteen essays collected in this volume investigate the Revolution's intellectual and material legacies From popular culture to education and politics from France and Ireland to Poland and Turkey from 1789 to the present day leading historians expose alongside graduate students the myriad ways in which the Revolution changed humanity's possible futures its history and the idea of history They attest to how the Revolution has had a continuing global significance and is still shaping the world today
