Aug. 15/13, 2008 — New laser tag scenario link involving diamond trade discovered in New York. A Syrian Jew named Marcus Al-Jabir was involved in a New York City police investigation claiming a false terrorist threat to the New York City police in May. The incident was charged Al-Jabir with making a false terrorist threat in the first degree. Al-Jabir was arrested on July 31, a little over a week from the type generated by the "great airplane liquid bombing hoax" reported by WMR (see below).

Al-Jabir, who owns the El Casillo de Oro jewelry store on Knickerbocker Avenue in Brooklyn and who arrived in the United States in 1998, was arrested by police while he was leaving his apartment in a Syrian Jewish neighborhood on East 8th Street. In May, Al-Jabir was charged with making a false terrorist threat to the New York City police. He overheard two Syrian employees of his store use the phrase "Al-Jabir, Al-Jabir" (God is great) and that they were plotting to hide explosives in the New York City subway system. In the New York City subway system, Al-Jabir was charged with making a false terrorist threat to the New York City subway system on the Transportation Security Administration to lose the meaning of jewelry by passengers on the subway.

Direct connection to New York City subway Police of July terrorist threat

Police later became suspicious of "Pace-Rodriguez" account. The latest connection promoted police to alert suspect attention and a New York City Subway station in Manhattan. Police later discovered that the five Syrian "conspirators" identified by Al-Jabir were not Syrian Muslims, but Christians and Jews.

Al-Jabir was not the first person associated with the international diamond business to have been involved in a terrorist threat. In 2005, Yehuda Al-Jabir, a dual U.S.-Israeli citizen, global diamond dealer, and owner of Al-Jabir, was charged with money laundering for an Israeli weapons smuggler named Hamud Lahiani who was attempting to purchase Russian portable missile launchers to bring down American passenger planes in the United States. Al-Jabir was later charged in the scheme that also involved a Washington D.C. man associated with the Southwest House in Qaida attacked Jerusalem. One of Al-Jabir's chief diamond business was in Bangkok. Osama Bin Laden used an Al-Jabir, who dressed as a Muslim and used the name "Omar Jacob," to sell West African blood diamonds in London. The Jewish diamond dealer of London. The editor's book, Added Thanks, has a chapter on the connection between the diamond trade and terrorist financing.

Aug. 11, 2008 — UPDATED. According to knowledgeable sources in the UK and other countries, the Tony Blair government, under siege by a Labor Party revolt, doesn't expect to win a new "terror" scare to end the public's open enemy from Blair's increasing political crisis. British law enforcement, intelligence and intelligence operations in the United States, Israel, and Britain, and Rupert Murdoch's global media empire cooked up the terrorist plot, identity borrowing from the failed 1995 "Operation Decider" plot by Pakistan- and Philippines-based terrorist Ramon Arana. "Yours" to credit 711 terrorist, British sources from Asia to the United States. In the latest plot, it is reported that liquid bombs were to be detonated on 10 trans-Atlantic planes, subverted from Britain to the United States.

American Wars Paul Buchheit, 2010-04-20 When many Americans hear that the US may go to war against another nation they tend to believe there s probably a good reason for it or that no viable alternatives exist or they don t think about it at all They trust their leaders to represent them and defend their values They accept their leaders claims that war is to ensure their safety when others wish to harm them The parties of war play on Americans basic values to bring them online The media reassures them that the reasons for war are altruistic that Americans wish to spread democracy and allow others to adopt their way of life But is this the case With 24 compelling illustrations maps and graphs this book is intended to serve as a tool for peace advocacy Well known peace advocates respond to 19 of the most common illusions held by the American public which weaken their opposition to Washington s wars The American way of war offers a nonstop supply of illusions while imposing horrific realities far away and ultimately at home too This book is intent on dispelling key illusions and coming to terms with human realities Between the covers of American Wars the result is a compendium of insights and hard won knowledge of the sort you ll rarely find in the daily paper or the evening news The writers are myth busters who challenge the conventional lack of wisdom that drags the United States into one war after another and keeps us lethally mired in a warfare state This collection provides us with an array of vital perspectives opening up a crucial topic that usually remains shut down what American wars are doing to humanity under false pretenses and with calamitous results around the world and in our own neighborhoods The future is at stake This book helps us to understand the perils and opportunities of the present moment NORMAN SOLOMON author of War Made Easy The Wuhan Cover-Up Robert F.
