

2.6 ANALOGIES

Analogies, in a narrower sense, are a test of vocabulary. In a broader sense, however, they test the ability to see relationships between the meanings of words. First, a pair of words is given. These words are related to each other in a certain manner. You have to spot this relationship accurately and to identify, among the given words or word pairs, the ones that are similarly related. Thus :

Example

TRUTH : FALSEHOOD :: VIRTUE : ?

(1) Goodness (2) Vice (3) Altruism (4) Veracity

Answer

Here, you have to determine which of the given words has the same relationship to 'virtue', as 'truth' has to 'falsehood'. The surest way to do this is to first spot the relationship. Once you spot what the relationship is, (in this case, that of opposites) it becomes easy to note that the opposite of 'virtue' is (2) 'vice'. Do not read the alternatives till you have first determined the relationship between the capitalized pair.

EXERCISE

For each question below, determine the relationship between the pair of words in the question and then select, from the options, the pair having a similar relationship to the first pair.

Water Holt Analogies:

The Dao of Rhetoric Steven C. Combs, 2012-02-01 In the first book to systematically deal with Daoism Taoism from a rhetorical perspective author Steven C Combs advances the idea that the works of Daoist Taoist sages Laozi Lao Tzu Zhuangzi Chuang Tzu and Sunzi Sun Tzu can be fused into a coherent rhetorical genre which can then form a methodology for rhetorical criticism This notion of Daoist rhetoric enables critics to examine discourse from new vantage points with novel processes and concepts that honor the creativity and complexity of human communication Combs also critically examines four contemporary films The Tao of Steve A Bug's Life Antz and Shrek to amplify rhetorical Daoism to indicate clear differences between Western and Daoist values and to offer fresh perspectives on individuals and social action The book argues that Daoism provides a lens for viewing limitations of current Western rhetorical theorizing positioning Daoist rhetoric as a potent critical perspective in the contemporary postmodern world Metaphor Competition in the Book of Job Lance R. Hawley, 2018-03-26 Within the book of Job the interlocutors Job the friends and Yahweh seem to largely ignore one another's arguments This observation leads some to propose that the dialogue lacks conceptual coherence Lance Hawley argues that the interlocutors tangentially and sometimes overtly attend to previously stated points of view and attempt to persuade their counterparts through the employment of metaphor Hawley uses the theoretical approach of Conceptual Metaphor Theory to trace the concepts of speech and animals throughout the dialogue Beyond explaining the individual metaphors in particular texts he shows how speech metaphors compete with one another most perceptibly in the expressions of Job's words are wind With regard to animal metaphors coherence is especially perceptible in the job is a predatory animal metaphor In these expressions the dialogue demonstrates intentional picking up on previously stated arguments Hawley argues that the animal images in the divine speeches are not metaphorical in spite of recent scholarly interpretation that reads them as such Rather Yahweh appears as a sage to question the negative status of wild animals that Job and his friends assume in their significations of people are animals This is especially apparent in Yahweh's strophes on the lion and the wild donkey both of which appear multiple times in the metaphorical expressions of Job and his friends Air-water Analogy and the Study of Hydraulic Models Giulio Supino, 1953 The author first sets forth some observations about the theory of models Then he established certain general criteria for the construction of dynamically similar models in water and in air through reference to the perfect fluid equations and to the ones pertaining to viscous flow It is in addition pointed out that there are more cases in which the analogy is possible than is commonly supposed Using Analogies in Middle and Secondary Science Classrooms Allan G. Harrison, Richard K. Coll, 2008 Makes a distinct contribution to science instruction Many teachers attempt to use analogies and metaphors to introduce abstract concepts however little is available on how to do this with specific examples The authors definitely address a need Douglas Llewellyn Professor of Science Education St John Fisher College Helps preservice and novice teachers use analogies and allows teachers to bridge the gap that sometimes occurs when students are learning abstract concepts The examples cover a wide variety of subjects and are written in a concise easy to understand voice John D Ophus Assistant Professor of Science Education University of Northern Iowa Use the power of analogies to enliven your science classroom and meet national standards When analogies are effective they readily engage students interest and clarify difficult and abstract ideas But not all analogies are created equal and developing them is not always intuitive Drawing from an extensive research base on the use of analogies in the classroom Allan Harrison Richard Coll and a team of science experts come to the rescue with more than 40 teacher friendly ready to use analogies for biology earth and space studies chemistry and physics The authors show teachers how and when to select analogies for instruction why certain analogies work or break down how to gauge their effectiveness and how to improve them Designed to enhance teachers presentation and interpretation of analogies through focus action and reflection FAR this guidebook includes Key science concepts explained through effective models and analogies Research findings on the use of analogies and their motivational impact Guidelines that allow teachers and students to develop their own analogies Numerous visual aids science vignettes and anecdotes to support the use of analogies Linked to NSTA standards Using Analogies in Middle Secondary Science Classrooms will become a much used text by teachers who want to enrich inquiry based science instruction

Biblical Metaphor Reconsidered Job Y. Jindo, 2018-07-17 How do we understand the characteristically extensive presence of imagery in biblical prophecy Poetic metaphor in prophetic writings has commonly been understood solely as an artistic flourish intended to create certain rhetorical effects It thus appears expendable and unrelated to the core content of the composition however engaging it may be aesthetically or otherwise Job Jindo invites us to reconsider this convention Applying recent studies in cognitive science he explores how we can view metaphor as the very essence of poetic prophecy namely metaphor as an indispensable mode to communicate prophetic insight Through a cognitive reading of Jeremiah 1 24 Jindo amply demonstrates the advantage and heuristic ramifications of this approach in biblical studies

Metaphor in the Hebrew Bible Pierre Van Hecke, Pierre Hecke, 2005 The Hebrew Bible abounds in metaphors and other figurative speech The present volume collects fifteen essays on this fascinating aspect of biblical language written by specialists in the field Attention is paid both to the recent methodological developments in the study of metaphor and to the importance of metaphor studies for the interpretation of biblical texts

Water and Power in Past Societies Emily Holt, 2018-05-01 Examines the many ways water has contributed to power structures in the past with insights for contemporary water management Water an essential resource in all cultures is at the heart of human power structures Utilizing a diverse range of theoretical perspectives the contributors to Water and Power in Past Societies provide a broad introduction to the archaeology of water related power structures The studies herein explore the long history of water politics in human society offering new insights into the power structures and inequalities surrounding irrigation systems the collection of rainwater as a component of ancient industrial production and sea water as a facilitator of communication trade and aggression In addition to examining the role of different types of water in creating power relationships the volume presents case studies from a variety of climatic regions ranging from the very dry to the tropical This geographical breadth facilitates cross cultural comparison making Water and Power in Past Societies an essential resource for instructors and students of the archaeology of water Finally in addition to reaching conclusions with significant implications for archaeologists and anthropologists the volume has real contemporary relevance often drawing explicit parallels with issues of current and future water management
