"Can We Use a Story Map?" Le Tran, 2009. Research Question: How will using a story map graphic organizer help improve students' structure and organization in their narrative writing? Sub Questions: Will using a story map help ELL students to be able to plan their writing and organize their writing during the pre-write phase? Will using a story map help students to allow their readers to imagine the world of the event or experience in their narrative writing? Research Activities: Context. This study took place in a fourth-grade self-contained classroom that was located in a small district under Program Improvement. The class was composed of a diverse student population with a wide range of academic needs. In this intervention, there were four students who were chosen as target students based on their low writing ability. All four students were English Language Learners. Methods and Data: This intervention spanned 5 weeks. It was implemented in order to guide students in improving the organization and structure of their narrative writing. Student achievement was defined based on their increasing scores and the layout of their papers, whether or not the paragraphs were identifiable. The data included a collection of their graphic organizers, narrative writing, attitudinal surveys, observational notes, and homework. Results: Comparisons of baseline and outcome data indicate that target students showed slight growth on their writing scores based on a rubric in the organization of the writing and in their attitude towards writing. Conclusions: Story map graphic organizers provided students with a visual display of how to write a narrative. It also provided students with guidance to start and continue through the different sections of a narrative. This intervention demonstrated that with modeling practice and many examples, students will be able to improve in the organization and structure of their writing and feel more confident as they write.

Grade Level: Fourth Grade. Data Collection Methods: Curriculum assessments, Survey, Attitude, Writing Assessments, and Observation. Student Curriculum Areas: ESL, ELL, Writing, Instructional Approaches, Writing, Explicit Instruction, Writing Narrative, Homework, and Graphic organizers.
