

There's something new in The Creek: Standards Based Report Cards.

Elementary Report Cards have changed. The traditional way of determining grades has been replaced.

Why? Because the standards based style of reporting student progress provides students and parents with more targeted and accurate information regarding the students' progress toward meeting what is expected of students at their grade level.

Report Cards Wade H. Morris,2023-09-26 The definitive history of the report card Report cards represent more than just an account of academic standing and attendance The report card also serves as a tool of control and as a microcosm for the shifting power dynamics among teachers parents school administrators and students In Report Cards A Cultural History Wade H Morris tells the story of American education by examining the history of this unique element of student life In the nearly two hundred year evolution of the report card this relic of academic bookkeeping reflected broader trends in the United States the republican zealotry and religious fervor of the antebellum period the failed promises of postwar Reconstruction for the formerly enslaved the changing gender roles in newly urbanized cities the overreach of the Progressive child saving movement in the early twentieth century and by the 1930s the increasing faith in an academic meritocracy The use of report cards expanded with the growth of school bureaucracies becoming a tool through which administrators could surveil both student activity and teachers And by the late twentieth century even the most radical critics of numerical reporting of children have had to compromise their ideals Morris traces the evolution of how teachers students parents and administrators have historically responded to report cards From a western New York classroom teacher in the 1830s and a Georgia student in the 1870s who was born enslaved to a Colorado student incarcerated in the early 1900s and the son of Russian Jewish immigrants applying to college in the 1930s Report Cards describes how generations of people have struggled to maintain dignity within a system that reduces children to numbers on slips of paper Teacher Preparation Initiatives United States. K. Cohen, Heather C. Hill, 1998 NAEP 1994 Reading Report Card for the Nation and the States Jay R. Campbell, 1996 This report describes students reading achievements at grades 4, 8, and 12 and within various subgroups of the general population. State level results are presented for individual states that chose to participate in the 1994 Trial State Assessment. Chapter 1 presents an overview of the 1994 NAEP reading assessment and sample questions and responses. Chapter 2 provides overall average proficiency results for the nation, regions, subgroups of students, and jurisdictions participating in the Trial State Assessment. Chapter 3 describes students reading performance in terms of achievement levels. Chapter 4 focuses on cross state comparisons of proficiency results from the state by state assessment at grade 4. Chapter 5 describes contextual factors related to students reading achievement. Chapter 6 describes specific abilities demonstrated by students in the NAEP reading assessment and reports student performance when reading for different purposes. The most striking finding from the 1994 assessment is that the average reading proficiency of 12th grade students declined significantly from 1992 to 1994. Other major findings include: 1) the decline in average proficiency among 12th graders between 1992 and 1994 was concentrated among lower performing students; 2) reading proficiency at all three grade levels was higher on average for students whose parents had more education; 3) at all three grade levels, female students had higher average reading proficiencies than male students; and 4) students who reported having a greater array of literacy materials in their homes displayed higher average reading achievement. Contains 38 tables and 23 figures of data. Appendixes provide an overview of procedures used in the 1994 assessment and describe students reading performance, cross state proficiency and achievement level results, and sample texts and questions.
