European Port Cities and

Urban Regeneration Enrico Tormarchi, 2022-07-29 Culture and event led regeneration have been catalysts for the transformation of redundant urban port areas and for the reframing of the image of many port cities which notably feature among mega event bidding and host cities. However there is little understanding of the impacts of these processes on port city relationships as well as of how port city cultures shape mega events and the related regeneration strategies. The book examines the underexplored mutual links between on the one hand urban and socio economic regeneration driven by cultural and sporting mega events and on the other hand the spatial political and symbolic ties between cities and their ports. By adopting a cross national comparative perspective with in depth case studies Hull Rotterdam Genoa and Valencia and examples from other port cities across the world where mega events were held the book engages with issues such as the tension between port and cultural uses reactions and opposition to mega events in port cities clashing urban imaginaries drawing on port activity and culture the role of port authorities and companies in the city's cultural life the spectacularisation and commodification of local maritime culture and heritage processes of cultural demaritimisation and remaritimisation of port cities. The book is therefore a contribution towards the bridging of port city and mega event studies and it provides insights for port city policy makers and mega event promoters drawing from a range of international experiences. The book also shows how societal and political change in the current ontologically insecure times may undermine the very paradigm of culture and event led regeneration in the years to come. Social Exclusion and Inner City Europe S.

Mangen, 2004-05-25 The searches by European Union major states for joined up approaches to inner city regeneration are examined thematically through a focus on policy evolution since the mid 1970s. Key issues addressed include the physical social employment and urban security agenda. The product of long term research drawing on extensive qualitative and quantitative sources at national level backed by in depth case study investigation of five large cities the book assesses how contemporary urban rejuvenation is being regulated including the increasing contribution of the European Union. Michael E. Leary, John McCarthy, 2013-10-30 In the past decade urban regeneration policy makers and practitioners have faced a number of difficult challenges such as sustainability budgetary constraints demands for community involvement and rapid urbanization in the Global South. Urban regeneration remains a high profile and important field of government led intervention and policy and practice continue to adapt to the fresh challenges and opportunities of the 21st century as well as confronting long standing intractable urban problems and dilemmas. This Companion provides cutting edge critical review and synthesis of recent conceptual policy and practical developments within the field. With contributions from 70 international experts within the field it explores the meaning of urban regeneration in differing national contexts asking questions and providing informed discussion and analyses to illuminate how an apparently disparate field of research policy and practice can be rendered coherent drawing out common themes and significant differences The Companion is divided into six sections exploring globalization and neo liberal perspectives on urban regeneration emerging reconceptualizations of regeneration public infrastructure and public space housing and cosmopolitan communities community centred regeneration and culture led regeneration The concluding chapter considers the future of urban regeneration and proposes a nine point research agenda This Companion assembles a diversity of approaches and insights in one comprehensive volume to provide a state of the art review of the field It is a valuable resource for both advanced undergraduate and postgraduate students in Urban Planning Built Environment Urban Studies and Urban Regeneration as well as academics practitioners and politicians

Urban Regeneration and Social Sustainability Andrea Colantonio,Tim Dixon,2011-02-02 Urban regeneration is a key focus for public policy throughout Europe This book examines social sustainability and analyses its meaning The authors offer a comprehensive European perspective to identify best practices in sustainable urban regeneration in five major cities in Spain Italy Netherlands Germany and the UK This authoritative overview of the scholarly literature makes the book essential reading for researchers and post graduate students in sustainable development real estate geography urban studies and urban planning as well as consultants and policy advisors in urban regeneration and the built environment Urban regeneration in European cities Association internationale pour le développement et la gestion des villes anciennes et nouvelles,1994* Urban Change and Regional Development at the Margins of Europe Ignazio Vinci,Paula

Russell,2022-07-28 Since the beginning of the 1990s regions and urban areas have become a primary target of EU Cohesion Policy For a number of European cities especially in the less developed regions this has resulted in a unique opportunity for the implementation of extensive development projects as well as delivering innovations in urban policy and local governance Through the detailed observation of planning processes which took place in four European cities Porto PT Malaga ES Palermo IT and Thessaloniki EL this book explores the different ways that EU intervention can affect the policy process locally from the regeneration of decayed neighbourhoods and the creation of key services for improving the quality of life to the establishment of new governance relations and increasing the institutional capacity in local government The book also provides a critical reflection on the impact of EU urban policy in reducing regional disparities and the extent to which Cohesion Policy has helped cities to open new pathways for local development With a special focus on the EU s marginal regions this book is a guide to understanding how EU policy has affected urban change and local development across Europe The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of the journal Urban Research Practice Urban Sprawl in Europe Chris Couch,Gerhard Petschel-Held,Lila Leontidou,2008-04-15 Urban sprawl is one of the most important types of land use changes currently affecting Europe It increasingly creates major impacts on the environment via surface sealing emissions by transport and ecosystem fragmentation on the social structure of an area by segregation lifestyle changes and neglecting urban centres and on the economy via distributed production land prices and issues of scale Urban Sprawl in Europe landscapes land use change Sprawl in the post socialist city as typified by Warsaw Leipzig and Ljubljana Decline and sprawl where a comparative analysis of Liverpool and Leipzig shows that sprawl is not confined to expanding cities Sprawl based on the development of second homes as found in Sweden Austria and elsewhere In part III a formal qualitative model of sprawl is developed Policies for the control of urban sprawl and the roles of different stakeholders are considered Finally a concluding chapter raises questions about the nature and dynamics of these new urban landscapes and their sustainability

City Visions Frank Gaffikin, Mike Morrissey, 1999 Covering a range of North American and European cities but focusing on Belfast's social economic and political developments this collection considers the role of long term urban planning in the development of cities The major cities of the West are characterised by division uneven development and unequal distribution of jobs In Belfast these general Western urban characteristics are extended and heightened by association with a long standing political crisis and low intensity conflict Covering a range of North American and European cities but focusing on Belfast's social economic and political developments this collection considers the role of long term urban planning in the development of cities The authors integrate global debates on urban development and summarise contemporary theories on cities and their future An assortment of interventions and delivery mechanisms are considered and among the key topics covered are urban economies and social exclusion the planning of city regions the sustainable city urban regeneration the role of culture in remaking cities and the future governance of cities By viewing the subject from a local perspective as well as in an international context the authors provide a stimulating critique which will guide policy makers planners students and others concerned with urban regeneration

A Modern Guide to National Urban Policies in Europe Karsten Zimmermann, Valeria Fedeli, 2021-04-30 Written in a clear and concise style this Modern Guide provide a timely overview and comparison of urban challenges and national urban policies in 13 European countries addressing key issues such as housing urban regeneration and climate change A team of international contributors explore the gap between the rise of international urban agendas and variegated national urban policies examining whether a more bespoke approach is better than the traditional one size fits all

Innovative Public Participation Practices for Sustainable Urban Regeneration Eugenio Mangi, Weixuan Chen, Tim Heath, Ali Cheshmehzangi, 2024-03-14 This book analyzes the adoption of stakeholders engagement in various fields and scales while providing the readers with an international outlook of the topic In the contemporary processes of urban development regeneration is becoming a relevant way to limit the occupation of new land and to enhance the existing spatial social and ecological dimensions of specific parts of the city It generally entails the engagement of different groups of stakeholders and users at various levels e.g institutional and private who carry on their own agendas while conveying a wide range of interests and values to safeguard. At the same time despite indications of a significant increase in its implementation under various forms and in multiple contexts in the last twenty years participatory mechanisms have not been without challenges and barriers due to several factors including facilitators poor negotiation and communication practices and consequently misinterpretation of the values at stake made by the parties involved or obstructionism and gridlocks carried on by the different stakeholders. The narrative of the collection is structured in four sections. The contributions elaborate on innovative participatory patterns how they are might be entangled with the different stages of regeneration projects in what measure they have contributed to the United Nations sustainability goals and the potential matters emerging during the negotiation phases. In detail the four sections are 1 Public space regeneration 2 Ecological regeneration 3 Built heritage regeneration 4 Informal settlements regeneration. Finally this book is a significant asset to urban policy makers planners practitioners and researchers in the architecture and urban studies domain who aim at deepening public participation practices knowledge by comparing different experiences.

EU Cohesion Policy Nicola F. Dotti, Ida Musiałkowska, Sonia De Gregorio Hurtado, Julia Walczyk, 2024-01-18 This engaging and topical book comprehensively explores the complexities surrounding the EU Cohesion Policy which has been addressing regional and urban development across Europe since the 1980s. Adopting a multidisciplinary approach it not only considers the goals of this long term investment policy which is to reduce territorial disparities between Member States and their regions but also considers the role it plays in the European integration process and the challenges the EU will face in its future.

The Quality of Territorial Policies in Europe's Periphery Mauro Tebaldi, Marco Calaresu, 2021-05-02 This book focuses on territorial policies as instruments for local development in Europe's periphery. Using a multiple case research design in three typical case studies in the context of the Mediterranean island of Sardinia Italy we empirically test the hypothesis that the institutionalisation of the governance system is an independent variable that is capable of influencing the quality of public policy intended as a dependent variable. According to this hypothesis the two above mentioned variables tend to change according to a linear and direct correlation: upward variation of the degree of institutionalisation of the governance system tends to correspond to upward variation in the quality of the policy and vice versa. In our conclusions we discuss the descriptive and prescriptive implications of the empirical findings of the research for the local development of peripheral areas. Regarding the descriptive implications we explain how territorial policy making can be articulated based on the degree of institutionalisation of the governance system and the quality of the territorial policies. Regarding the prescriptive implications we identify the best practices for territorial governance in order to improve the chances of local development in Europe's periphery.
