

Crash Course U.S. History #12 – The Market Revolution – KEY

Directions: As you watch Crash Course U.S. History #12, read each question carefully before responding to it. All responses must be a minimum of 1-2 complete sentences, and must be thorough and inclusive with details.

1. What is the first thing that enabled a massive economic shift?

Technology, specifically in transportation and communication.

2. Identify and describe three improvements in transportation methods that fueled the Market Revolution.

1. First came better roads, which were largely financed by tolls. Even the federal government got in on the act, building the so-called National Road, which reached all the way from the massive city of Cumberland, Maryland, across our great nation to the equally metropolitan Wheeling, West Virginia.
2. More important than roads were canals, which made transportation much cheaper and more efficient, and which wouldn't have been possible without the steamboat.
3. From a long-term perspective, the most important new transportation was railroads. The first commercial railroad, the Baltimore and Ohio, began in 1811 and by 1860, there were more than 30,000 miles of railroad in the United States.

3. How did the telegraph help merchants?

On the communication side, we got the telegraph. Telegraphs allowed merchants to know when to expect their shipments and how much they could expect to sell them for.

4. How did the development of factories change the nature of work?

The factory was an organizational innovation. Factories gathered workers together in one place and split tasks among them, making production much faster and also more efficient. After the Market Revolution, more and more Americans went to work instead of working from home and the Market Revolution changed the way we imagined work and leisure times.

5. Define Manifest Destiny.

Manifest Destiny is the idea that it was a God-given right of Americans to spread over the North American continent.

6. Who were the typical workers in the factories that were created?

Since migration was so popular, it was really difficult for factory workers to find men who could work in their factories. First, they looked to Yankee women to fill the factories, but increasingly, those jobs were filled by immigrants. Fortunately, the U.S. had lots of immigrants, like the more than one million Irish people that came here fleeing poverty.

7. What were the long-term results of the Market Revolution?

Research in Education ,1970-12 The Politics of Civic Education Eleni M. Mantas-Kourounis,2024-06-10 This book chronicles the progression of civic education advocacy since the early 2000s It identifies the main actors that called for civic education reform describes their motivations and policy platforms and documents the path taken to capture state policy agendas It argues that No Child Left Behind incentivized civic education advocates to mobilize a call to action to restore emphasis on civics that materialized into national policy reform proposals that successfully captured the agendas of state legislatures and bureaucracies This book analyzes the implementation and sustainability of these civic education policy reforms by undertaking a comparative case study analysis of school districts in Utah and Connecticut Through the voices of teachers and district administrators the book tells the story of what happened when these state policy reforms inspired by national initiatives hit the local level where the rubber meets the road As ideological debates about schools and democracy unfold across the country as civic education advocates and proposals proliferate this book treats civic education not as panacea but as a concrete policy area to be analyzed and understood It contextualizes the current debate and offers a critical assessment of the most recent comprehensive state level civic education policy reform It argues that while questions linger about what type of civic inspired educational interventions remains most effective for whom where and why the implementation of such interventions are profoundly impacted by local actors and local politics and that future initiatives should take this dimension into consideration Digest of Education Statistics Thomas D. Snyder,Charlene M. Hoffman,1996 A compilation of statistical information covering the broad field of American education from kindergarten through graduate school Includes data from both governmental private sources Contains information on a variety of subjects including the number of schools colleges teachers enrollments graduates educational attainment finances federal funds for education employment income of recent graduates libraries international education Also information on population trends attitudes characteristics use of telecommunications technologies in public schools etc Bulletin ,1918 Retinoscopy (or shadow test) James Thorington,1899 Making it Real Julie A. Gorlewski,David A. Gorlewski,2012-09-05 This book provides no answer key If you are looking for one right answer go elsewhere Implicit in the current educational reform movement towards standards and standardization is the belief that the work of teachers is quantifiable that the hours and days of contact time between teachers and students can be reduced to a number that has meaning in short that there is one right answer Making it Real Case Stories for Secondary Teachers focuses not on the episodic nature of the standardized test but on those hours and days of contact time that represent the essence of what teachers do on a daily basis Within that context teachers are called upon to make hundreds of decisions each day decisions which require knowledge and expertise about planning learner development content knowledge student assessment and ethical practice among many others These decisions are not made easily and cannot be quantified because they take place in the complex world of human nature and human activity where values and priorities conflict and often clash The teachers administrators and students in Making it Real Case Stories for Secondary Teachers represent the day to day situations relationships conflicts and dilemmas that exist in every school No formulas are presented No secrets are revealed Rather the authors provide a template for analysis that encourages readers to place themselves in these real life school settings and consider the causes and consequences of their decisions for themselves their students and society as a whole
