Lending Division,1981 KORDI research papers in ... ,1988 Lake Taihu, China Boqiang Qin,2008-07-22 2 In China there are more than 2 759 lakes with surface area greater than 1km and 2 the total lake area is 91 019km One third of these lakes are freshwater lakes and the majority are situated in the middle and lower reaches of the Changjiang River or in eastern China's coastal areas. These lakes function as drinking water supplies, food control systems, aquaculture and tourism resources, navigation channels, etc. Recently, many shallow lakes in China have been subject to rapid eutrophication and suffer from algal blooms. This issue has resulted in a shortage of drinking water and in degradation of their ecosystems. The control of eutrophication of shallow lakes is one of the main issues with which the local people and Chinese governments are concerned today. Lake Taihu is the third largest freshwater lake in China with an area of about 2,338 km² and a mean depth of 1.9 m, a typical shallow lake located in the delta of Changjiang River, the most industrialized and urbanized area in China. Its main function is supplying drinking water for the surrounding cities such as Wuxi, Suzhou and Shanghai, but tourism, aquaculture, fisheries and navigation are important as well. However, with economic development and increased population in the lake basin, Lake Taihu has suffered increasingly from serious eutrophication. The environmental issue of Lake Taihu is now a very common one as most lakes from eastern China are confronted with it. The Zoological Record, 2000.

The Global Development Of Policy Regimes To Combat Climate Change Alex Bowen, Nicholas Stern, John Whalley, 2014-04-01. The year 2015 will be a landmark year for international climate change negotiations. Governments have agreed to adopt a universal legal agreement on climate change at the 21st Conference of Parties (COP21) to the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change (UNFCCC) in Paris in 2015. The agreement will come into force no later than 2020. This book focuses on the prospects for global agreement, how to encourage compliance with any such agreement and perspectives of key players in the negotiations: the United States, India, China and the EU. It finds that there is strong commitment to the established UN institutions and processes within which the search for further agreed actions will occur. There are already a myriad of local and regional policies that are helping to reduce greenhouse gas emissions and build mutual confidence. However, the chapters in the book also highlight potential areas of discord. For instance, varying interpretations of the common but differentiated responsibilities of developing countries agreed as part of the UNFCCC could be a major sticking point for negotiators. When combined with other issues such as the choice of consumption or production as the basis for mitigation commitments, the appropriate time frame and base date for their measurement and whether level or intensity commitments are to be negotiated, the challenges that need to be overcome are considerable. The authors bring to bear insights from economics, public finance and game theory.
