

Our Tire Repair Policy

It is our policy not to repair a tire puncture unless the hole is within the green area shown below.

Punctures in the sidewall or shoulder are not repairable.

Punctures in the center of the tread may be repaired under certain circumstances.

Punctures at the edge of the shoulder may be repaired if the angle of the puncture is towards the center of the tread.

We will not repair a tire a punctured tire if:

- The tire is worn below 4/32"
- The tire is over 6 years old
- The tire has any sidewall damage
- The tire has been driven on while flat
- The tire has a puncture larger than 1/4"
- The puncture is a slice that can not be properly repaired.

If a tire's tread pattern does not have outer circumferential grooves to define its shoulder, then the tire should not be repaired if the puncture falls within 25% of the width of the tire as measured from the edge of the tread. For example, if the tire has a section width of 205mm, the puncture should not be repaired if it is within 52mm (2 inches) from the edge of the tire.
