

Energy in a Mass-Spring System 2

1. Two identical springs (spring constant 200 N/m) are suspended vertically with identical blocks on the ends (mass 2.0 kg each). The left spring is compressed 10 cm and released. From this position the system is slowly compressed until the spring constant is 10 N/m .

For this position, compressions, and mass were kept the same for the compressed position. Answer the following questions.

- (a) What is the spring constant when the left spring is slowly compressed to position B?

- (b) The block is then pulled to position C, held, and released. Position B is the lowest and highest for the block. The spring constant is 10 N/m . At the spring's lowest position, what is the spring's potential energy, the block's kinetic energy, and the system's potential energy? B, C, and D.

- (c) What is the spring constant when the block is released from position B?

- (d) Create a graph of energy vs. position for the system. The graph should be for the system's potential energy, the block's kinetic energy, and the system's potential energy. The graph should be for the system's potential energy, the block's kinetic energy, and the system's potential energy.
