Making Things Talk Tom Igoe, 2011-09-08. Make microcontrollers PCs servers and smartphones talk to each other. Building electronic projects that interact with the physical world is good fun. But when the devices you've built start to talk to each other things really get interesting. With 33 easy to build projects Making Things Talk shows you how to get your gadgets to communicate with you and your environment. It's perfect for people with little technical training but a lot of interest. Maybe you're a science teacher who wants to show students how to monitor the weather in several locations at once. Or a sculptor looking to stage a room of choreographed mechanical sculptures. In this expanded edition you'll learn how to form networks of smart devices that share data and respond to commands. Call your home thermostat with a smartphone and change the temperature. Create your own game controllers that communicate over a network. Use ZigBee Bluetooth Infrared and plain old radio to transmit sensor data wirelessly. Work with Arduino 1.0 Processing and PHP three easy to use open source environments. Write programs to send data across the Internet based on physical activity in your home office or backyard. Whether you want to connect simple home sensors to the Internet or create a device that can interact wirelessly with other gadgets this book explains exactly what you need.
