Webcapse Study Guide Spanish:

The Changing Landscape of Spanish Language Curricula Alan V. Brown, Gregory L. Thompson, 2018-07-01 Spanish remains a large and constant fixture in the foreign language learning landscape in the United States. As Spanish language study has grown, so too has the diversity of students and contexts of use, placing the field in the midst of a curricular identity crisis. Spanish has become a second rather than a foreign language in the US, which leads to unique opportunities and challenges for curriculum and syllabus design, materials development, individual and program assessment, and classroom pedagogy. In their book, Brown and Thompson address these challenges and provide a vision of Spanish language education for the twenty-first century. Using data from the College Board ETS and the authors' own institutions, as well as responses to their national survey of almost seven hundred Spanish language educators, the authors argue that the field needs to evolve to reflect changes in the sociocultural, socioeducational, and sociopolitical landscape of the US. The authors provide a coherent and compelling discussion of the most pressing issues facing Spanish post-secondary education and strategies for converting these challenges into opportunities. Topics addressed in the book include Heritage learners, service learning in Spanish-speaking communities, Spanish for specific purposes, assessment, unique needs for Spanish teacher training, online and hybrid teaching, and the relevance of ACTFL's national standards for Spanish post-secondary education. An essential read for Spanish language scholars, especially those interested in curriculum design and pedagogy that includes supporting reflection, questions, and pedagogical activities for use in upper-level undergraduate and graduate-level courses. Current Trends in Language and Culture Studies Yves-Antoine Clemmen, Margit Grieb, Will Lehman, 2013 This volume includes selected papers from the 20th Southeast Conference on Foreign Languages, Literatures, and Film, held on March 2-3, 2012, at Stetson University in DeLand, Florida. It represents a cross-section of current approaches to questions of violence and trauma, identity, subjectivity, and the national, race, and gender, and teaching in foreign languages, literatures, and film.

Technology-Assisted Language Assessment in Diverse Contexts Karim Sadeghi, 2022-12-30 This timely collection explores the role of digital technology in language education and assessment during the COVID-19 pandemic. It recognizes the unique pressures which the COVID-19 pandemic placed on assessment in language education and examines the forced shift in assessment strategies to go online, the existing shortfalls, as well as unique affordances of technology-assisted L2 assessment. By showcasing international examples of successful digital and computer-assisted proficiency and skills testing, the volume addresses theoretical and practical concerns relating to test validity, reliability, ethics, and student experience in a range of testing contexts. Particular attention is given to identifying lessons and implications for future research and practice, and the challenges of implementing unplanned computer-assisted language assessment during a crisis. Insightfully unpacking the lessons learned from COVID and its impact on the acceleration of the shift towards online course and assessment delivery, it offers important guidelines for navigating assessment in different instructional settings in times of crisis. It will appeal to
