

LIZARD EVOLUTION VIRTUAL LAB

Directions: Begin in the Introduction Tab. Read the Introduction and watch the Welcome to the Lizard Evolution Lab. Answer the following questions as you finish each module of the virtual lab.

Click on Module 1: Ecomorphs and follow the directions as you work through the information.

1. At the beginning of the virtual lab, you were asked to sort eight lizards into categories. What criteria did you initially use to make your groups? Did you revise your criteria later? Why?

I based my criteria off of the legs. I chose the size of the legs because I think that each of the different anoles had evolved based on their habitat. I did not revise my criteria.

2. An adaptation is a structure or function that is common in a population because it enhances the ability to survive and reproduce in a particular environment. Provide one example and an explanation of one adaptation in the Anolis lizards. One adaptation is the short legs on the sheplani hispaniola anolis lizard. I think this is because of the slim branches it was on. The shorter legs made it easier for the lizard to hold onto the slimmer branches.
3. Provide one evolutionary explanation for why lizards living in the same part of the habitat (i.e., grass) would have similar characteristics. Lizards in the same habitat would have similar characteristics because there are many ways to do something, however there is only one way that is the best for surviving. Basically, lizards in the same habitat have the characteristics that are most fit for survival, so most lizards in that habitat would exhibit those most fit characteristics.
4. What is an ecomorph? Provide one example from the virtual lab. Ecomorphs are species with similar body types and habitats. An example is how the sheplani Hispaniola and occultus Puerto Rico lizards both have short legs.

Comparative Ecology Y. Itô, 1981-03-12 This 1980 book considers the patterns of population fluctuations of animals and intraspecific social relations by means of comparative methods and discusses the evolution of population regulation mechanisms and social relations The author proposes that parental care has evolved in environments in which it is difficult for the young to obtain food whilst high fecundity has evolved in the opposite environment He presents evidence from a wide range of organisms to argue that during evolution animals repeatedly face the choice of two strategies low fecundity combined with parental protection or high fecundity and that this choice determined the amplitude regularity and associated main factors of population fluctuations as well as the main characteristics of social relations as expressed in group life or dispersed living involving territory Although many examples are drawn from insects with which the author is most familiar mammal birds and other animal groups are also examined in depth
