You Must Set Forth At Dawn:

You Must Set Forth at Dawn Wole Soyinka, 2007-03-13 The first African to receive the Nobel Prize in Literature as well as a political activist of prodigious energies Wole Soyinka now follows his modern classic Ake The Years of Childhood with an equally important chronicle of his turbulent life as an adult in and in exile from his beloved beleaguered homeland In the tough humane and lyrical language that has typified his plays and novels Soyinka captures the indomitable spirit of Nigeria itself by bringing to life the friends and family who bolstered and inspired him and by describing the pioneering theater works that defied censure and tradition Soyinka not only recounts his exile and the terrible reign of General Sani Abacha but shares vivid memories and playful anecdotes including his improbable friendship with a prominent Nigerian businessman and the time he smuggled a frozen wildcat into America so that his students could experience a proper Nigerian barbecue More than a major figure in the world of literature Wole Soyinka is a courageous voice for human rights democracy and freedom You Must Set Forth at Dawn is an intimate chronicle of his thrilling public life a meditation on justice and tyranny and a mesmerizing testament to a ravaged yet hopeful land country shaped by internal diversity and transnational connections past and present Leading Nigerian writers from Chinua Achebe Amos Tutuola and Wole Soyinka to Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie and Teju Cole have portrayed these Nigerian issues and have also written about some of the momentous events in Nigerian history Afropolitan Horizons discusses their work alongside other novelists and commentators as well as describing the ways in which Nigeria has appeared in foreign news reporting It is all interwoven with the author's own anthropological field research in a town in Central Nigeria

The Struggle for Modern Nigeria Michael Gould, 2011-12-18 International media coverage in the 1960s and early 1970s represented the Biafran War in which the state of Biafra attempted to secede from the Nigerian Federation as a grand humanitarian disaster characterised by sustained conflict starvation and genocide Using interviews and newly released archival material Michael Gould questions this depiction examining the role of foreign parties in the conflict and the impact of propaganda upon its international reception both during and after the war Envisaged initially by both sides as a short conflict the war confounded all expectations stretching on for four years It was a brother's war one which divided families and was characterised overwhelmingly by both sides reluctance to enter into hostilities This book seeks to answer some of the most fundamental questions surrounding the conflict including how this avoidable conflict came about why the war became so drawn out and how the leadership of the opposing Generals Ojukwu who led the Biafran revolt and Gowon who was President of the Nigerian Federation defined the conflict In the process Gould offers a radical reappraisal of the many entrenched conceptions which currently surround the conflict This book will be essential reading for all students of African history and politics and post colonial studies

Postcolonial Imaginations and Moral Representations in African Literature and Culture Chielozone Eze, 2011-12-16 The postcolonial African culture as it is discoursed in the academia is largely influenced by Africa's response to colonialism To the degree that it is a response it is to considerably reactive and lacks forceful moral incentives for social critical consciousness and nation building Quite on the contrary it allows especially African political leaders to luxuriate in the delusions of moral rectitude imploring at will the evil of imperialism as a buffer to their disregard of their people This book acknowledges the social and psychological devastations of colonialism on the African world It however argues that the totality of African intellectual response to colonialism and Western imperialism is equally if not more damaging to the African world In what ways does the average African leader indeed the average African judge and respond to his world How does he conceive of his responsibility towards his community and society The most obvious impact of African response to colonialism is the implicit search for a pristine innocent paradigm in for instance literary philosophical social political and gender studies This search has its own moral implication in the sense that it makes the taking of responsibility on individual and social level highly difficult Focusing on the moral impact of responses to colonialism in Africa and the African Diaspora this book analyzes the various manifestations of delusions of moral innocence that has held the African leadership from the onerous task of bearing responsibility for their countries it argues that one of the ways to recast the African leaders responsibility towards Africa is to let go on the one hand the gaze of the West and on the other of the search for the innocent African experience and cultures Relying on the insights of thinkers such as Frantz Fanon Wole Soyinka Kwame Anthony Appiah Achille Mbembe and Wolfgang Iser this book suggests new approaches to interpreting African experiences It discusses select African works of fiction as a paradigm for new interpretations of African experiences

New Perspectives on the Nigeria-Biafra War Chima J. Korieh, 2021-10-13 New Perspectives on the Nigeria Biafra War No Victor No Vanquished analyzes the continued impact of the Nigeria Biafra war on the Igbo the failure of the reconstruction and reconciliation effort in the post war period and the politics of exclusion of the memory of the war in public discourse in Nigeria Furthermore New Perspectives on the Nigeria Biafra War explores the resilience of the Igbo people and the different strategies they have employed to preserve the history and memory of Biafra The contributors argue that the war had important consequences for the socio political developments in the post war period ushering in two differing ideologies a paternalistic ideology of co option of the Igbo by the Nigerian state under the false premise of No Victor No Vanquished and the Igbo commitment to self preservation on the other

African Migration, Human Rights and Literature Fareda Banda, 2020-12-24 This innovative book looks at the topic of migration through the prism of law and literature The author uses a rich mix of novels short stories literary realism human rights and comparative literature to explore the experiences of African migrants and asylum seekers The book is divided into two Part one is conceptual and focuses on art activism and the myriad ways in which people have sought to write justice Using Mazrui's diasporas of slavery and colonialism it then considers histories of migration across the centuries before honing in on the recent anti migration policies of western states Achiume is used to show how these histories of imposition and exploitation create a bond which bestows on Africans a status as co sovereigns of the First World through citizenship The many fictional examples of the schemes used to gain entry are set against the formal legal processes Attention is paid to life post arrival which for asylum seekers may include periods in detention The impact of the increased hostility of receiving states is examined in light of their human rights obligations Consideration is paid to how Africans navigate their post migration lives which includes reconciling themselves to status fracture taking on jobs for which they are over qualified while simultaneously dealing with the resentment borne of status threat on the part of the citizenry Part two moves from the general to consider the intersections of gender and status focusing on women LGBTI individuals and children Focusing on their human rights and the fictional literature chapter four looks at women who have been trafficked as well as domestic workers and hotel maids while chapter five is on LGBTI people whose legal and literary stories are only now being told The final substantive chapter considers the experiences of children who may arrive as unaccompanied minors Using a mixture of poetry and first person accounts the chapter examines the post arrival lives of children some of whom may be citizens but who are continually made to feel like outsiders The conclusion follows starting with two stories about walls by Hadero and Lanchester which are used to illustrate the themes discussed in the book Few African lawyers write about literature and few books and articles in Western law and literature look at books by or about Africans so a book that engages with both is long overdue This book provides fascinating reading for academics students of law literature gender and migration studies and indeed the general public
