Paradise by Paradise Howard Burman, 2007-02 A novel about the disappearance of an enigmatic poet prodigy Roland Paradise as told through the words of Paradise and the testimony of those who knew him and those he knew In a nonlinear structure it unravels the story of Paradise from boy genius to watchmaker to wartime codebreaker to writer to teacher to hermetic genius Roland Paradise the father the son the prodigy the epicist the enigmatist The rumors the stories the accusations Where is he Is he Was he ever His mind was a cryptish place an enigma a harmless cipher machine knocked senseless by the insane attempts of others to decode it as though it held an inherent truth while driving him to another time to anytime Roland Paradise was ultimately a sad and lonely figure a possibly delusional reclusive intellectual for whom life held little joy For all his brilliance he never learned life's simplest lessons A compulsive fabulist whose life and disappearance was more fantastic than any of the stories he invented or the lies he couldn't help telling Everything I Know Think I Know and Don't (But Think I Do) William Jackson, 2020-05-15 Book Delisted Prodigal Son (TCG Edition) John Patrick Shanley, 2016-03-07 What I admire most is that his plays are beautifully well made economical sharp and coherent He's not a misanthrope but he's in pursuit of why people behave as badly as they do along with having a great compassion for them That's an unusual and interesting combination Tony Kushner on John Patrick Shanley When a troubled but gifted boy from the South Bronx finds himself shipped off to a private school in New Hampshire the adjustment to the alien environment will lead to his ultimate dissolution or redemption Teachers in the affluent institution do not know what to make of the new boisterous student though the challenge really lies in his self-perception Like his most celebrated play Doubt the author has based this new work on his own personal experiences of growing up as a teenager in the South Bronx and his time spent at a prep school in New England Shanley has created an elemental study of a young man's search for his place in the world John

Breaking Barriers Jule Selbo, They said No She asked Why The answer was always the same Because you're a woman She vowed to shatter each barrier they placed in her way Inquisitive and precocious Laura Bassi grew up on the Italian Peninsula in the 1700s dreaming of studying science at the famed University of Bologna. It was the Age of Enlightenment and although forward thinking philosophical ideas and scientific discoveries flourished the prevailing edict was that college was no place for a woman no matter how capable intelligent or innovative. Laura was told to trust that she would find fulfillment as a dutiful wife and mother. But why she wondered couldn't she have it all? Smugly assuring themselves of Laura's failure the ivory tower establishment fought to keep her out of their hallowed halls. Yet despite restricted access to libraries and laboratories Laura earned the respect of Europe's top scientists and scholars. She was determined to earn a doctoral degree and teach college physics something no woman had ever done. Renouncing the societal norms of the day Laura never stopped working towards a time when a woman would have the same opportunities as a man be held to equivalent standards and realize equal rewards. But first she had to master Newtonian physics.
