Your Guide To Choosing A Nursing Home:

Your Guide to Choosing a Nursing Home, 1999 U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, 2014-05-25 The Guide to Choosing a Nursing Home is designed to help you make informed decisions about nursing home care whether you're planning ahead or need to make an unexpected decision. It's helpful to plan ahead, consider all your long-term care options, and make good financial plans early. Before you get started, you may have other long-term care options like community services, home care, or assisted living, depending on your needs and resources. It's also possible you may be eligible for home and community-based services covered by Medicaid. Before choosing a nursing home, you can check to see if one of these other options is available to you or if they might help after a nursing home stay. These and other long-term care choices are explained briefly in Section 2. Not all nursing homes are certified to participate in Medicare or Medicaid. See more information on how these programs protect nursing home residents. If you're helping another person, helping another person choose a nursing home or make other long-term care choices can be difficult. Your support is important and can help your loved one adjust to getting new services or living in a new place like a nursing home. Be sure to include the person you're helping in decisions whenever possible. Always make decisions with his or her needs and preferences in mind.

Your Guide to Choosing a Nursing Home Or Other Long-Term Care U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, 2014-11-12 People go to nursing homes for different reasons, including if they're sick, hurt, had surgery, and need to get better, or have chronic care needs or disabilities that require ongoing nursing care. Your Guide to Choosing a Nursing Home or Other Long-Term Care can help you make informed decisions about nursing home care whether you're planning ahead or need to make an unexpected decision. Before you get started, you may have other long-term care choices like community services, home care, or assisted living, depending on your needs and resources. Before choosing a nursing home, you can check to see if one of these other options is available to you or if they might help after a nursing home stay. For more information on your long-term care choices, see Section 3. If you have Medicare, Medicare generally doesn't cover long-term care stays in a nursing home. See Section 5 for more information. If you have Medicaid, you may be eligible for home and community-based services covered by Medicaid. You may also be eligible for in-home long-term supports and services if you have a disability, regardless of your age. See Section 5 for more information. Not all nursing homes are certified to participate in Medicare or Medicaid. See pages 47-52 for more information on how programs protect nursing home residents.
