before the appearance of modern humans 100 000 years ago Asia has received far less attention than Africa and Europe in the search for human origins but is no longer considered of marginal importance Indeed a global understanding of human origins cannot be properly understood without a detailed consideration of the largest continent In this study Robin Dennell examines a variety of sources including the archaeological evidence the fossil hominin record and the environmental and climatic background from Southwest Central South and Southeast Asia as well as China He presents an authoritative and comprehensive framework for investigations of Asia s oldest societies challenges many long standing assumptions about its earliest inhabitants and places Asia centrally in the discussions of human evolution in the past two million years
