The Left Hand of Data Matthew Berland, Antero Garcia, 2024-04-23 A speculative framework that imagines how we can use education data to promote play creativity and social justice over normativity and conformity Educational analytics tend toward aggregation asking what a normative learner does In The Left Hand of Data educational researchers Matthew Berland and Antero Garcia start from a different assumption that outliers are and must be treated as valued individuals Berland and Garcia argue that the aim of analytics should not be about enforcing and entrenching norms but about using data science to break new ground and enable play and creativity From this speculative vantage point they ask how we can go about living alongside data in a better way in a more just way while also building on the existing technologies and our knowledge of the present The Left Hand of Data explores the many ways in which we use data to shape the possible futures of young people in schools in informal learning environments in colleges in libraries and with educational games It considers the processes by which students are sorted labeled categorized and intervened upon using the bevy of data extracted and collected from individuals and groups anonymously or identifiably When how and with what biases are these data collected and utilized What decisions must educational researchers make around data in an era of high stakes assessment surveillance and rising inequities tied to race class gender and other intersectional factors How are these complex considerations around data changing in the rapidly evolving world of machine learning AI and emerging fields of educational data science The surprising answers the authors discover in their research make clear that we do not need to wait for a hazy tomorrow to do better today

Engaging Teacher Candidates and Language Learners With Authentic Practice Lenkaitis, Chesla Ann, Hilliker, Shannon M., 2019-06-28 Teacher candidates need authentic practice with language learners so that they can test and hone their skills based on the concepts learned in their teacher education programs with real students These candidates need practice before and beyond student teaching and fieldwork If they are given the chance to practice during as many teacher education courses as possible and have access to language learners throughout their programs they can focus on applying the specific content of each class they take in a real world context with real students Engaging Teacher Candidates and Language Learners With Authentic Practice highlights strategies teacher educators can use to give their teacher candidates authentic practice attached to coursework By focusing on ways that authentic practice has been integrated into teacher preparation programs and studies that have been realized this publication will provide practical ways for others to provide this authentic practice which is much needed in teacher preparation programs This book highlights topics such as pedagogy student engagement and intercultural competence and is ideal for educators administrators researchers and students
