harmful to oneself and or others share common features e.g compulsiveness impulsivity impaired decision making craving tolerance withdrawal high rates of relapse and involve dysfunction of several brain circuits Derangement from functional neurobiological mechanisms underpinning both sensitivity to reward and inhibitory control can also lead to compulsive behaviors For instance pathological gambling and other impulse control disorders e.g hypersexuality compulsive painting eating and buying are often reported in Parkinson's disease patients Gender dependent differences in the rate of initiation and frequency of misuse of addicting drugs have been widely described Yet men and women also differ in their propensity to become addicted to other rewarding stimuli e.g sex food or activities e.g gambling exercising The goal of the present Research Topic is to explore and summarize current evidence for gender and sex differences not only in drug addiction but also in other forms of addictive behaviors Thus it will include studies showing gender dependent differences in drug addiction food addiction compulsive sexual activity pathological gambling Internet addiction and physical exercise addiction Psychiatric comorbidity potential risk factors and the underlying neural mechanisms will be also examined with particular emphasis to the role of sex hormones in modulating addictive and compulsive behaviors
