How It Feels to Be Free Ruth Feldstein, 2013-11-26 Winner of the Benjamin L Hooks National Book Award Winner of the Michael Nelson Prize of the International Association for Media and History In 1964 Nina Simone sat at a piano in New York's Carnegie Hall to play what she called a show tune Then she began to sing Alabama's got me so upset Tennessee made me lose my rest And everybody knows about Mississippi Goddam Simone and her song became icons of the civil rights movement But her confrontational style was not the only path taken by black women entertainers In How It Feels to Be Free Ruth Feldstein examines celebrated black women performers illuminating the risks they took their roles at home and abroad and the ways that they raised the issue of gender amid their demands for black liberation Feldstein focuses on six women who made names for themselves in the music film and television industries Simone Lena Horne Miriam Makeba Abbey Lincoln Diahann Carroll and Cicely Tyson These women did not simply mirror black activism their performances helped constitute the era's political history Makeba connected America's struggle for civil rights to the fight against apartheid in South Africa while Simone sparked high profile controversy with her incendiary lyrics Yet Feldstein finds nuance in their careers In 1968 Hollywood cast the outspoken Lincoln as a maid to a white family in For Love of Ivy adding a layer of complication to the film That same year Diahann Carroll took on the starring role in the television series Julia Was Julia a landmark for casting a black woman or for treating her race as unimportant The answer is not clear cut Yet audiences gave broader meaning to what sometimes seemed to be apolitical performances How It Feels to Be Free demonstrates that entertainment was not always just entertainment and that We Shall Overcome was not the only soundtrack to the civil rights movement By putting black women performances at center stage Feldstein sheds light on the meanings of black womanhood in a revolutionary time

Souder, William H. Armstrong Marcia Tretler, 1991

Picking Up the Tab Carlton Jackson, 1994 At the memorial held after Martin Ritt's death in 1990 he was hailed as this country's greatest maker of social films From No Down Payment early in his career to Stanley yet he went to a small college in North Carolina Elon where he played football for The Fighting Christians His school days in the South gave him a lifelong love for the region Thus in his movies he was just as much at home with southern as with northern topics He did not deal totally in his southern experience with racism and poverty He directed The Long Hot Summer and The Sound and the Fury both of which described conflicts between and among white social groups He once remarked I have spent most of my film life in the South Some referred to his films as think movies and perhaps this is why he never won an Oscar for best directing But he gave moviegoers all over the world an opportunity to see what America was really like from the viewpoint both of the wealthy and of the poor It may be unfortunately that we will never see his likes again
