Experiencing Service-Learning Robert F. Kronick, Robert B. Cunningham, Michele Gourley, 2011-06-30 A unique resource for students and professors alike this book reveals the important practical educational and emotional benefits provided by college programs that allow students to help others through service work in inner city classrooms clinics and other challenging environments Filled with vivid first person reflections by students Experiencing Service Learning emphasizes learning by doing getting into the field sharing what one sees with colleagues and interpreting what one learns As the authors make clear service learning is not a spectator sport It takes students away from the routines and comfort zones of lecture test term paper exam and puts them into the world Service learning requires them to engage actively with cultures that may be unfamiliar to them and to be introspective about their successes and their mistakes At the same time it demands of their instructors something other than Power Point slides or an eloquently delivered lecture as no teacher can predict in advance the questions their students experiences will raise In service learning students
