Teach Eiken Vocabulary:

Teaching EFL Learners Shadowing for Listening Yo Hamada, 2016-07-01 Shadowing an active and highly cognitive technique for EFL listening skill development in which learners track heard speech and vocalize it simultaneously is gradually becoming recognized. However, there remain a lot of mysteries and misunderstandings about it. This book uncovers shadowing in terms of theory and practice. This book cements shadowing as a separate technique from other similar techniques such as Elicited Imitation, Mirroring, and simple repetition, and provides ample empirical data to explain the function of Shadowing. It also elaborates on how Shadowing should be used in terms of materials, procedure, and learners' psychology, which would aid in instructors' use of Shadowing in teaching. A guide on a method effective in improving learners' bottom-up listening skills, this book will certainly prove useful to English Language learners and instructors in their linguistic pursuits.

English Corpora under Japanese Eyes, 2016-08-09 English Corpora under Japanese Eyes is a fine collection of papers written in commemoration of the 10th anniversary of the Japan Association of English Corpus Studies (JAECS). Beginning with the overview of the field by Stig Johansson, an honorary member of the JAECS, the present volume shows the state of art in English corpus studies in Japan and demonstrates the creative uses of corpora in a wide range of research topics, from studies drawing on large-scale general corpora such as the British National Corpus and the Bank of English to studies based on more specific historical literary learner and parallel corpora. The papers incorporated in this anthology are grouped into five sections: 1. Overview of corpus-based studies; 2. Corpus-based studies of contemporary English; 3. Historical and diachronic studies of English; 4. Corpus-based studies in English literature; 5. Corpus and English language teaching. This volume will inspire still further corpus exploitation in the broader field of the humanities.

Trends in Language Assessment Research and Practice Vahid Aryadoust, Janna Fox, 2016-02-29 Despite prodigious developments in the field of language assessment in the Middle East and the Pacific Rim, research and practice in these areas have been underrepresented in mainstream literature. This volume takes a fresh look at language assessment in these regions and provides a unique overview of contemporary language assessment research. In compiling this book, the editors have tapped into the knowledge of language and educational assessment experts whose diversity of perspectives and experience has enriched the focus and scope of language and educational assessment in general and the present volume in particular. The six trends addressed in the 26 chapters that comprise this title consider such contemporary topics as data mining in class assessment and washback The contributors explore new approaches and techniques in language assessment including advances resulting from multidisciplinary collaboration with researchers in computer science genetics and neuroscience The current trends and promising new directions identified in this volume and the research reported here suggest that researchers across the Middle East and the Pacific Rim are playing and will continue to play an important role in advancing the quality utility and fairness of language testing and assessment practices

Classroom Practice and Teacher Cognition

Nicholas Bradley,2024-10-26 This collection occupies the middle ground between teachers showcasing their work and academics presenting research that is often situated in irreplicable uncommon or impractical classroom settings The work presented here is provided by full time university language educators who maintain a robust and active research agenda that focuses on their own classroom practice Whether one wishes to label it under action research exploratory practice reflective practice or other the findings of the research into their own practices and educational contexts are accessible and will resonate strongly with both practicing teachers and academics investigating classroom practice and teacher cognition All articles are written with the aim of developing practice in a way that is recognisable to teachers and beneficial to their educational efforts Indeed recent literature calls for guidance to come from those actively engaged in classroom teaching and who apply sound research methods to the daily contexts lived by teachers and students Innovating EFL Teaching in

Asia Theron Muller,Steven Herder,John Adamson,Philip Shigeo Brown,2011-12-08 This collection offers a distinctly Asian voice for English language education and addresses some of the unique needs of Asian learners in EFL contexts Teachers and researchers from nine Asian countries present some of the most current and innovative research in five distinct and fascinating areas of EFL teaching and learning Teacher Agency and Policy Response in English Language Teaching

Patrick C. L. Ng,Esther F. Boucher-Yip,2016-08-05 The role of English in the global arena has prompted official language in education policy makers to adopt language education policies to enable its citizens to be proficient in English and to access knowledge Local educational contexts in different countries have implemented English education in their own ways with different pedagogical goals motivations features and pedagogies While much of the research cited in English language planning policy has focused on macro level language policy and planning there is an increasing interest in micro planning in particular teacher agency in policy response Individual teacher agency is a multifaceted amalgam not only of teachers individual histories professional training personal values and instructional beliefs but also of how these interact with local interpretations and appropriations of policy Teacher Agency and Policy Response in English Language Teaching examines the agency of the teacher in negotiating educational reforms and policy changes at the local and national levels Chapters in the book include English language teaching in China teacher agency in response to curricular innovations Incorporating academic skills into EFL curriculum teacher agency in response to global mobility challenge Teacher agency the native nonnative dichotomy and English Classes in English in Japanese high Schools Teacher designed high stakes English language testing washback and impact This book will appeal to researcher across all sectors of education in particular key stakeholders in curriculum and language planning Those interested in the latest development of English language teaching will also find this book a valuable resource Exploring EFL Fluency in Asia T. Muller,J. Adamson,P. Brown,S.

Herder,2014-10-04 In EFL contexts an absence of chances to develop fluency in the language classroom can lead to marked limitations in English proficiency This volume explores fluency development from a number of different perspectives investigating measurements and classroom strategies for promoting its development Another Generation of Fundamental Considerations in Language Assessment Gary J. Ockey, Brent A. ,2020-01-12 Teacher Narratives from the Eikaiwa Classroom Moving Beyond McEnglish Edited by Daniel Hooper and Natasha Hashimoto This book includes 16 chapters written by current and former eikaiwa English conversation school teachers to illustrate a complexity within the eikaiwa profession that has been thus far largely ignored Through teacher narratives the authors explore the unique and often problematic world of eikaiwa to present a counter narrative to what the editors regard as blanket stereotyping of a multifaceted and evolving teaching context Eikaiwa schools are found in virtually every city and town in Japan They provide conversation and test preparation classes for learners of all ages Those attending eikaiwa may be looking to prepare for an overseas holiday or work placement achieve a required TOEIC score for their company or simply enjoy a new hobby and socialise with people from different cultures and backgrounds Eikaiwa teachers often need to negotiate conflicting demands from students parents management and society at large Furthermore opportunities for professional development are scarce and research on this context is virtually non existent Despite the massive scale of the eikaiwa industry and the varied roles that teachers are required to fulfil within it expatriate and ELT communities have also tended to stigmatise the work of eikaiwa teachers as being simplistic and uniform As a result many former eikaiwa teachers choose to forget their eikaiwa past and the way it shaped them as professionals This volume provides an important opportunity for eikaiwa teachers to share their stories and for the editors to present a coherent and convincing case for the value that the experiences of working in English conversation schools has for our understanding of teaching and learning languages Putting the CEFR into Practice Through Action Research Gregory C. Birch,Noriko

Nagai,Maria Gabriela Schmidt,Jack V. Bower,2024-11-18 This book provides an overview of an action research model which utilizes the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages CEFR and stresses the importance of systematically researching classroom practice It introduces the complementary nature of the CEFR and action research the CEFR and the CEFR focused Action Research Model CARM The book includes seven case studies guided by the model and concludes with an overall assessment of the efficacy of the CARM as a way to facilitate action research into CEFR informed practice

Undertaken in a Japanese educational context the focus of the book is squarely on classroom based CEFR focused action research concerning issues that all educators face such as course design materials development selection classroom implementation learner autonomy and assessment Technology-Enhanced Language Teaching and Learning Karim

Sadeghi,Michael Thomas,Farah Ghaderi,2023-02-23 The Covid 19 pandemic has directly impacted the way teachers and learners worldwide teach and learn languages forcing numerous educational activities in technologically deprived contexts to stop altogether and those in technologically rich environments to go online on an emergency basis This volume provides a collection of theoretical and practical insights into the challenges and affordances faced globally during the pandemic and
