shaped by rapidly developing technologies over the past six years this new fourth edition of Reference and Information Services takes the introduction to reference sources and services significantly beyond the content of the first three editions In Part I Concepts and Processes chapters have been revised and updated to reflect new ideas and methods in the provision of reference service in an era when many users have access to the Web In Part II Information Sources and Their Use discussion of each source type has been updated to encompass key resources in print and on the Web where an increasing number of freely available sources join those purchased or licensed by libraries A number of new authors are contributors to this new edition bringing to their chapters their experience as teachers of reference and as practitioners in different types of libraries Discussions of services in Part I integrate digital reference as appropriate to each topic such as how to conduct a reference interview online using instant messaging Boxes interspersed in the text are used to present scenarios for discussion to highlight key concepts or to present excerpts from important documents Discussions of sources in Part II place more emphasis on designing effective search strategies using both print and digital resources The chapter on selection and evaluation of sources addresses the changing nature of reference collections and how to evaluate new types of sources Each chapter concludes with an updated list of additional readings to guide further study A new companion website will provide links to Web accessible readings and resources as well as additional scenarios for discussion and example search strategies to supplement those presented in the text

Americans All Diana Selig,2008 From the 1920s ea decade marked by racism and nativism ethrough World War II hundreds of thousands of Americans took part in a vibrant campaign to overcome racial ethnic and religious prejudices They celebrated the eoecultural gifts e that immigrant and minority groups brought to society learning that ethnic identity could be compatible with American ideals Diana Selig tells the neglected story of the cultural gifts movement which flourished between the world wars Progressive activists encouraged pluralism in homes schools and churches across the country Countering racist trends and the melting pot theory of Americanization they championed the idea of diversity They incorporated new thinking about child development race and culture into grassroots programs eyet they were unable to address the entrenched forms of discrimination and disfranchisement faced by African Americans in particular This failure to grasp the deep social and economic roots of prejudice ultimately limited the movement e tm s power In depicting a vision for an inclusive American identity from a diverse citizenry Americans All is a timely reminder of the debates over difference and unity that remain at the heart of American society
