School Michael Lockwood,2008-06-24 Winner of the UKLA Author Award 2009 Lockwood has written a useful supportive book which will help teachers and librarians He describes the background and summarises the research and then proposes thoroughly practical programmes Carousel Michael Lockwood has produced an excellent practical overview and analysis of what works in the primary school to promote reading for pleasure Lockwood's work is grounded and valuable to those who need it most teachers in the classroom working hard to engender a love of reading English Drama Media This book is first class It puts the matter very clearly and succinctly and presents a great deal of evidence to support the argument that pleasure is not a frivolous extra but the very heart and essence of what reading is about It also gives readers plenty of ideas for carrying the principle into the classroom and for justifying it This is an excellent piece of work which I hope will find a place on every staffroom bookshelf Philip Pullman English primary school children are less likely to read for pleasure than their counterparts in many other countries This practical and focused book discusses the background to this situation and looks at how government initiatives have tried to address it Drawing on the author's own research project in order to identify good practice in promoting reading for enjoyment the book presents specific activities which teachers can use to develop their own whole school and classroom practice enabling them to put the fun back into reading Each chapter features case study material and provides examples of planning from schools that have successfully created thriving reading cultures through schemes such as reading assemblies book clubs library loyalty cards school book evenings and quizzes There is also an extensive annotated list of print and internet based resources Topics covered include Becoming a reading for pleasure school Promoting a love of reading in the early years Developing reading enjoyment in the later primary years Getting boys reading Promoting Reading for Pleasure in the Primary School is written for all those involved in education who would like to see as many children as possible develop a love of reading It will be particularly relevant for primary teachers teaching assistants trainee teachers advisers and consultants as well as teacher educators and researchers Redefining English for the More Able Ian Warwick, Ray Speakman, 2018-04-20 Redefining English for the More Able is a practical guide offering English teachers a range of strategies to stretch and challenge their students Written by Ian Warwick founder of London Gifted and Talented and Ray Speakman this book provides a fresh perspective on the purpose of English teaching and the benefits it can offer all students Drawing on an array of ideas and examples from different genres of literature the book discusses how threshold concepts can be used to frame English teaching and push the boundaries of students learning The chapters provide example lesson plans targeted at different age groups from Key Stages 2-5 and address different aspects of English including short stories poetry film drama and science fiction Warwick and Speakman examine how the requirements for teaching more able students have received more recent focus under Ofsted and offer specific examples of activities and reflective questions that can engage students more deeply in their appreciation of English This well researched and accessible guide will be an invaluable tool for English teachers teaching assistants and school leaders wishing to reflect on new ways of motivating and teaching the more able in order to develop the intellectual curiosity of all their students

Building Communities of Engaged Readers Teresa Cremin, Marilyn Mottram, Fiona M. Collins, Sacha Powell, Kimberly Safford, 2014-06-20 Reading for pleasure urgently requires a higher profile to raise attainment and increase children's engagement as self motivated and socially interactive readers Building Communities of Engaged Readers highlights the concept of Reading Teachers who are not only knowledgeable about texts for children but are aware of their own reading identities and prepared to share their enthusiasm and understanding of what being a reader means Sharing the processes of reading with young readers is an innovative approach to developing new generations of readers Examining the interplay between the will and the skill to read the book distinctively details a reading for pleasure pedagogy and demonstrates that reader engagement is strongly influenced by relationships between children teachers families and communities Importantly it provides compelling evidence that reciprocal reading communities in school encompass a shared concept of what it means to be a reader in the 21st century considerable teacher and child knowledge of children s literature and other texts pedagogic practices which acknowledge and develop diverse reader identities spontaneous inside text talk on the part of all members a shift in the focus of control and new social spaces that encourage choice and children s rights as readers Written by experts in the literacy field and illustrated throughout with examples from the project schools it is essential reading for all those concerned with improving young people s enjoyment of and attainment in reading Nurturing Independent Thinkers Michael Boshier, Patrick Hazlewood, 2005-10-01 St John s School and Community College in Wiltshire made headline news this year In challenging old ideas about homework and the National Curriculum St John s has developed its own integrated curriculum based on learning to learn managing information managing situations relating to people global citizenship a curriculum designed to equip learners with the skills and knowledge they need to thrive in the real world The success of this new approach has resulted in improved academic progress better behaviour greater learning opportunities increased confidence more responsible learners Nurturing Independent Thinkers is both a practical guide to the implementation of the St John s curriculum and a realistic account of the journey taken by the staff and students involved
