

MANDATORY
SERVICE BULLETIN*DATE: June 4, 2010Service Bulletin No. 342F
(Supersedes Service Bulletin No. 342E)
Engineering Aspects are
FAA ApprovedSUBJECT: Fuel Line (Stainless Steel Tube Assy.) and Support Clamp Inspection and Installation
MODELS AFFECTED: All fuel injected Lycoming engines indicated in fuel line and clamping diagrams.
TIME OF COMPLIANCE: Check every 100 hours, annual inspection, overhaul and any time fuel lines or clamps are serviced, removed or replaced.

There have been instances of fuel line breakages where support clamps have been omitted during field overhaul or repair. The support clamps dampen line vibration due to the impact of cooling air and vibration from the engine and/or aircraft. Also, the fuel supply lines between the fuel injector manifold and the nozzles can become damaged and leak if they are severely bent or kinked during engine maintenance.

As a means of minimizing the hazards of fuel line damage, the following inspection of fuel lines and clamps is required.

1. The fuel lines to the nozzles are made from 1/8 inch tubing. A separate line supplies fuel to the intake port of each cylinder. Check each line visually for any evidence of physical damage such as:
 - Dents
 - Pits
 - Nicks
 - Stains caused by fuel leakage
2. Remove any line that appears faulty. Do not attempt to repair any line that leaks. Bent lines may be straightened; however, any line with an inside radius less than 5/8 inch must be replaced. Do not reuse any line that is dented; cracks can develop at the site of a dent. Also inspect solder joints at ends of lines for cracks. Replace cracked lines, they cannot be repaired. See the latest revision of Service Instruction No. 1301 for superseded fuel line identification, bending requirements and replacement information.
3. Examine the location of the clamps that secure the lines to the engine and compare them with the diagrams shown in this bulletin. If clamps are missing, replace the fuel line and install clamps as indicated. Do not use plastic tie straps. Also, examine the lines to ensure the clamps securely support the line. Also look for signs of chafing. Replace fuel lines that show indications of chafing and/or have loose clamps.
4. Older engines that used metal clamps with no cushion must use the P/N LW-12598 fuel line sleeve at each of those clamping locations. The fuel line sleeve is not used with the cushioned clamps. Any cushioned clamp, where the cushion has deteriorated or is missing, must be replaced with a new cushion clamp.
5. Compliance with the bulletin must be noted in the aircraft log book.

NOTE: If difficulty is experienced when installing clips on a cylinder fuel injector line due to aircraft baffling, the clips may be installed in positions that provide clearance. Do not permit fuel lines to contact engine or airframe baffle hardware; maintain minimum clearance of 3/16 inch between a fuel line and any engine or airframe surface.

developing countries as a starting point for treaty negotiations Driven by the aim to achieve consistency in the international tax treaty practice the structure and content is to a large extent similar in the UN Model and the OECD Model However whereas the OECD has historically focused its efforts on issues mainly relevant for developed countries the UN Tax Committee has continuously attempted to specifically take into account tax treaty policies for developing countries when drafting and amending the UN Model Convention Compared to the OECD Model Convention the UN Model Convention aims at giving more weight to the source principle Popular examples are the PE definition in the UN Model which provides for a lower threshold than Article 5 of the OECD Model or Article 12A on Fees for Technical Services which has been introduced with the latest amendment of the UN Model Convention 2017 and allows for a withholding tax to be levied on payments to non residents when the payer of the fee is a resident of that contracting State irrespective of where the services are provided Interestingly in the discussions of the tax challenges arising from the digitalization of the economy the OECD and the G20 are also exploring options to allocate more taxing rights to the jurisdiction of the customer and or user i e the market jurisdictions As this has traditionally been the focus of the UN Model Convention its unique features and developing countries practices could be taken into account when exploring new nexus rules that are not constrained by the physical presence requirement This book contains the master s theses of the full time LL M program 2018 2019 for which Special Features of the UN Model Convention has been chosen as the general topic With this book the authors and editors do not aim at discussing each article of the UN Model Convention but rather focus on the unique features of the UN Model Convention which are explored in detail This is supplemented with an evaluation of the function and relevance of the UN Tax Committee in the international tax policy discussion and with an analysis of the influences of the OECD s BEPS project on the UN Model
