Organizations as Complex Systems Maurice Yolles, 2006-09-01 Managing the Complex is an ambitious title and it would be an audacious one if we were not to begin with a frank admission to date few to none of us have a skill set which includes managing the complex We try various things we write about others and we wonder about still others When a tool perspective or technique comes along which seems to evoke success we emulate it probe it and recoil at the all too often admission that it was situation and context which afforded success its opportunity and not some quality intrinsic to the tool perspective or technique Indeed if the study of complexity has done anything for managers and for those who espouse managerial theory it is in providing a scientific foundation for the notion that context matters Those who preach abstract ideas have then to reconcile themselves to the notion that situation and embodiment matters Those who believe in strong causality and determinism are left to wrestle with the role of chance uncertainty and chaos Those who prefer to argue that men move history are confronted with the role of environment and affordances while those who argue the reverse are left to contend with charisma irrationality of crowds and the strange qualities we know as emotions A series on complex systems has less ambitious goals to contend with than this Such a series can deal with classifications and categories and speak of noise as if it were not the central focus of the problem Managing the complex is about managing noise or perhaps we should say it is about dealing with accepting making room for and learning from noise The articles in this volume and in volumes to come will each be considered as noise by some and as gems by others but we hope that practicing managers and academics alike will find plenty of fuel to drive their personal explorations into understanding and perhaps even managing the complex

Breaking News Fred Thirkell,Bob Scullion,George Alfred Barrowclough,2004 Winner of a City of Vancouver Heritage Award 2005 Before the First World War photographs of major news events were rarely seen in the daily newspapers the technology was still too new to make their use viable Filling the gap and providing the missing images were the postcard photographers who could make their breaking news photos available on the street the day after an event occurred George Alfred Barrowclough was one of those photographers Barrowclough had the eye of an artist and the nose of a newsman His images of Vancouver and the surrounding areas stand out over those of other postcard photographers of his day in that they are more people centred and action oriented capturing the lives and appearances of the people living in and around Vancouver in the decade before the Great War Drawing from postcards that Barrowclough produced between 1908 and 1912 award winning authors Fred Thirkell and Bob Scullion have selected images for Breaking News that showcase the photographer's focus on people and events In Vancouver in those years you looked to newspapers for words you looked to Barrowclough for news This is Fred Thirkell and Bob Scullion's sixth book in the postcard genre Several of their earlier books have also won City of Vancouver Heritage awards Argosy ,1891 Psychology ,1931 The Complete Works of Theodore Roosevelt Theodore Roosevelt, Henry Cabot Lodge,2024-01-17 The Complete Works of Theodore Roosevelt is a compelling anthology that encapsulates the diverse literary contributions of one of America's most vibrant historical figures The collection spans Roosevelt's broad array of writings from his gripping narratives on history and politics to his passionate

Matchmaking and the Marriage Market in Postrevolutionary France Andrea Mansker,2024-12-15 Matchmaking and the Marriage Market in Postrevolutionary France uncovers the unexplored history of matrimonial agents their novel marketing tactics and the rise of personal advertisements to track the commercialization of marriage in nineteenth century France Brokers transformed courtship and marriage into forms of commercial exchange linking them to the burgeoning urban values of abundance pleasure and social mobility By studying agents and readers media fictions on love alongside court cases legislation and literature surrounding the industry Andrea Mansker reveals the intimate and socioeconomic pressures of finding a spouse At the same time she demonstrates how contemporaries used the business of matrimony to reimagine their public identities relationships and courtship rituals following unprecedented historical change due to the French Revolution and Napoleonic wars The matchmaking business both responded to and helped shape national anxieties over fluctuating nuptial rates and changing laws on marriage and divorce As a result marriage itself was reconceived as a commercial contract inseparable from the atomistic and corrupt marketplace The debates and pressures Mansker describes in Matchmaking and the Marriage Market in Postrevolutionary France are still relevant today As contemporary online daters likely understand the possibility of finding a mate in an expanded pool of candidates beyond one s family locality and nation offered individuals the liberating opportunity to explore new personas just as it produced a novel sense of danger about these impersonal transactions in the anonymous marketplace
