Chesterton, 2023-10-01 The Man Who Was Thursday is a gripping adventure story of murderous criminals and brilliant policemen It is to be expected that the author of the Father Brown stories should tell a detective story like no one else On this level The Man Who Was Thursday succeeds superbly. If nothing else, it is a magnificent tour de force of suspense writing. Carried along on the boisterous rush of the narrative by Chesterton's wonderful high spirited style, readers will soon see themselves being carried into much deeper waters. The Dark Half Stephen King, 2016-02-16 A chiller. The New York Times Book Review and 1 New York Times bestseller about a writer's horrific and haunting pseudonym that destroys everyone on the path leading to the man who created him. After thirteen years of international bestseller stardom with his works of violent crime fiction, author George Stark is officially declared dead, revealed by a national magazine to have been killed at the hands of the man who created him, the once well regarded but now obscure writer Thad Beaumont. Thad's even gone so far as to stage a mock burial of his wildly successful pseudonym, complete with tombstone and the epitaph "Not a Very Nice Guy." Although on the surface it seems that Thad can finally concentrate on his own novels, there's a certain unease at the prospect of leaving George Stark behind. But that's nothing compared to the horror about to descend upon Thad's new life. There are the vicious out of control nightmares for starters. And how is he able to explain the fact that everyone connected to George Stark's untimely demise is now meeting a brutal end of their own in a pattern of homicidal savagery, and why each blood-soaked crime scene has Thad's fingerprints all over it? Thad Beaumont may have once believed that George Stark was running out of things to say, but he's going to find out just how wrong he is. G. K. Chesterton The Dover Reader G.K. Chesterton, 2014-10-27 Contents include unabridged texts of The Man Who Was Thursday and The Club of Queer Trades, the classic study of Christian morality, Orthodoxy, a selection of Father Brown stories and several essays. His Other Half Wendy Lesser, 1992 Wendy Lesser counters the reigning belief that male artists inevitably misrepresent women. She builds this case through inquiry into many unexpected and germane subjects: Marilyn Monroe's walk, for instance, or the dwarf manicurist Miss Mowcher in David Copperfield, or the shoulder blades of Degas bathers. Placing such particulars within the framework of Plato's myth of the divided beings and psychoanalytic concepts of narcissism, Lesser sets out before the reader an art that responds to and even attempts to overcome division. Faces in the Smoke Ruth Hallam, 2024-05-02 A story of love, hate, murder, and witchcraft. Strength and survival through generations battling against a terrifying curse that will blight an entire bloodline. This is the story of a witch called Beatrice, whose curse upon her family's bloodline has long reaching consequences for her descendants. Tess is the first to be the victim of her aunt's curse, being that there will be no living male born to the bloodline. As the strong female characters of this story must survive, this curse lasting and loving relationships are developed. The story will take us back through Beatrice's life, how through desperation and manipulation she turns to prostitution at the early age of 15 in the year of 1619. It will tell of her attachment to a young girl in very similar circumstances who both cling to each other and become non blood sisters. They will go through untold hardship at the hands of local gentry and meet his long suffering child bride wife where between the three of them they will develop a bond through love and sisterhood. Beatrice and her sisters will learn the art of witchcraft, initially use of concoctions and remedies.

but as tragedy befalls the three their witchcraft turns dark and will ultimately end in their capture and death The curse will not die with them Potter's American Monthly ,1879 Intersubjectivity: Recent advances in theory, research, and practice Colwyn Trevarthen,Jonathan T.
